KENNEDY CALLS FOR ACTION

—WILL FINANCE CENTENNIAL—

Tobacco Tax Bill Goes To Floor Of Legislature

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Revenue Committee Thursday advanced to the floor of the Legislature a $3.6 million tobacco revenue bill, a portion of which it recommended for support of Nebraska's centennial celebration.

Action to advance LB10 was taken on a 4-1 vote.

An amendment to impose for the first time a 10% wholesale tax on tobacco products other than cigarets and to establish a centennial fund from the new excise levy was adopted on a 4-0 vote.

The committee proposed that money be appropriated from the fund to the Centennial Commission in an amount recommended by the Budget Committee and as approved by the Legislature.

Balance of the tax would be placed in the general fund.

LB10 would raise an estimated $3,250,000 a year from an increase in the cigaret tax from 4 to 6 cents a pack, and an additional estimated $375,000 annually from the new 10% tobacco products tax.

As originally introduced by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, the measure was confined to a proposed boost in the excise tax on cigarets.

Under terms of the amended bill, the tax on other tobacco products would be effective July 1, 1963.

The 10% levy would be imposed on wholesalers who would have to be licensed (at $10 each) by the state. Returns would be required monthly.

The cigaret tax presently raises $6,500,000 in annual revenue.

Alcohol Tax Pending

Left pending before the committee is LB9, which would boost excise taxes on beer and liquor.

Thursday's action followed a public hearing on LB323, which would impose a .07-mill special 4-year levy to raise a million dollars for the centennial celebration.

The bill was held for further discussion, but action on LB10 was viewed as an alternative centennial financing plan likely to scuttle LB323.

At Least $1 Million

Gov. Frank Morrison told the committee that the commission should be supplied with "at least $1 million in public funds" to mark the centennial in 1967.

Morrison said he would rather see the money provided through tobacco taxation than from a special levy on property.

"We need to draw a line on special levies," the governor said. "This thing can get out of hand."

Return Expenditure

Public money expended on the centennial will be "a wise investment which will return many times the amount expended through an impetus to our economic development," he declared.

Nebraska, Morrison said, is "not a poverty-stricken state . . . but economically sound." Nebraskans today, he said, spend more on tobacco, liquor and gambling than on the state's entire educational structure.

Cuban Ships, Planes Not Free To Attack

. . . SHRIMP BOAT INCIDENT POKED

Washington (UPI) —Cuban-based MIG fighter planes were disclosed Thursday to have fired at a disabled American shrimp boat and President Kennedy promptly ordered U.S. armed forces to take "all necessary action" against any more attacking planes or ships.

The government also fired off a strong protest to Cuba and the President said he hoped the combined military-diplomatic actions would make any future attacks unlikely. There were some demands in Congress for a "hot pursuit" policy against such "acts of aggression."

The President told a news conference that the attacking planes "flew under the Cuban flag." Therefore, he said, the United States held the Cubans responsible for the attack unless the Russians should claim Soviet pilots were flying the MIGs..

At Hearing

The Defense Department said two MIGs fired close to the 67-foot boat in international waters between Florida and Cuba late Wednesday. It was brought out at a congressional hearing that the shrimp boat was flying no flag and carried no marks of identification.

The boat, which had drifted 3 days with engine trouble, was not hit by the MIG' rocket fire and its two-man crew was rescued by a U.S. destroyer escort and taken to Key West, Fla.

The Russian-built MIGs were chased away by Florida-based U.S. Marine jet fighters, who got close enough to witness some of the rocket firing. But the U.S. pilots apparently could not determine whether the pilots were Cubans or Russians.

40 Yards

The President told his news conference that the shots from the MIGs came within 40 yards of the shrimp boat. Asked whether this could be called an "attack," he replied: "If you are on the boat, that's regarded as an attack."

Kennedy said it was not yet known whether the firing was the result of a decision by the Cuban government of Premier Fidel Castro which might forecast other attacks, or a sudden whim of the pilots' to engage in some "target practice."

But he said he had ordered the Defense Department "to make any necessary revisions in standing orders so as to insure that action will be taken against a vessel or aircraft which executes an attack against any vessel or aircraft of the United States over international waters in the Caribbean."

Unlikely

Then he said that in view of this order — spelled out in the stern note to Cuba — he hoped that the U.S. response to the incident "would make any future attacks such as this unlikely." The White House had said earlier that the protest, channeled through the Swiss, denounced the attack "on an unarmed fishing vessel."

Shortly after the shrimp boat incident was disclosed at mid-morning, the White House for the first time took official notice of Russia's promise to withdraw "several thousand" troops from Cuba by March 15.

A White House statement said this would be a "useful step in the reduction of international tensions." It also said Russia had notified the President that some military specialists used to train Cuban soldiers would be pulled out along with combat troops. The White House said it understood ships to remove the men were enroute to Cuba.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee was briefed on the shrimp boat episode by Sterling Cottrell, deputy assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs. He told newsmen the government waited to announce the firing until it had received reports from the boat's crew and the U.S. jet pilots and had investigated all angles.

North of Cuba

According to the Defense Department, the privately-owned shrimp boat Ala was 60 miles north of Cuba and 78 miles east southeast of Key West, Fla., when "two Cuba-based MIG fighter aircraft executed rocket firings in the area" of the vessel.

A department spokesman said there were 4 MIG 15's and 17's in the area but only two fired.

American F4b jets from Marine Corps Fighter Squadron 531 were dispatched to the scene from the Boca Chica Air Station, Key West, when the MIGS showed up as "unidentified targets" on the Key West radar station screen.

Fighters Left

The MIG fighters left the area of the shrimp boat when contacted by U.S. aircraft dispatched by the Air Defense Command in southern Florida," the Defense Department said. "There was no engagement between the MIG's and the U.S. interceptors who witnessed some of the firing."

The two men on the shrimp boat, Paris Jackson and Benjamin Washington, were picked up by the U.S. destroyer escort Kretchmer which took them to Key West. The department said they reported they had been drifting about 3 days because of engine failure.

Angered

Among members of Congress reacting angrily to the incident were such leaders as Speaker John W. McCormack, Mass., Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Armed Services Committee, and Acting chairman John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Russell was the one who immediately called for "hot pursuit" — the policy under which U.S. interceptors follow attacking planes into their home territory, if necessary, to destroy them. He called the incident a clear act of piracy.

Sparkman said he wished the U.S. planes had shot down the attacking MIG's. McCormack described the incident as "an act of aggression" and said "strong measures" should be taken against any further attack.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., said the action "sweeps away with rocket fire the silly distinction between offensive and defensive weapons in Cuba."

Patrol Chief: More Men, Fewer Deaths

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

State Safety Patrol Chief Col. C. J. Sanders told the Budget Committee Thursday that if the Patrol is given "sufficient" manpower, it can "put a terrific dent" in the number of highway fatalities experienced in Nebraska.

Sanders made the statement during presentation of his 1963-65 budget request for $5,579,000 which includes funds for an additional 80 uniformed troopers to patrol state highways and county roads.

"If you're going to have us patrol the roads and enforce the laws, you're going to have to give us the men to do it," Sanders said.

Dent Deaths

"I'm not going to tell a group of intelligent people that any added number of patrolmen means we are going to stop the killing," he continued, "but if the patrol is given a sufficient number of men, we'll put a terrific dent in that number killed last year."

The Patrol now numbers 209 persons, 17 of whom are involved in various administrative duties, and 176 troopers on the road.

When the time off required for a 5-day week and vacations is taken into consideration, the number of men the Patrol is able to put on the road for a 10-hour shift totals 63 — to cover 10,000 miles of state highways and whatever it can of 100,000 miles of county roads.

His recommended 80 additional patrolmen does not represent a "number pulled out of the air," Sanders said, but does constitute the number of troopers he believes are needed to step-up the law enforcement which can reduce the number of fatal accidents.

In a detailed breakdown, the Patrol chief said cost of the extra men, plus a clerk-typist to handle the additional workload, would total $1,221,616. The cost per man for the new troopers, including their training and equipment, was listed at $14,983.

Questioned by the committee as to whether the Patrol would find it necessary to lower its standards in order to add this many men, Sanders replied that he believed the 5-day work week initiated last year has helped make the job more attractive, and that the recruitment program now being established would enable their obtaining enough men.

Noting his upcoming retirement in June, Sanders added, "I'm positive whoever takes my place, if he comes from within the organization, will never lower the standards—we can't afford to do otherwise."

President Raps Labor Leader In N.Y. Strike

. . . URGES ACTION BY 'THIRD FORCE'

Washington (UPI) — President Kennedy criticized the labor leader in the New York newspaper strike and suggested a stronger approach than present mediation efforts be taken to settle the long dispute.

Kennedy, however, stopped short of advocating outright arbitration of the issues. Instead he favored calling in what he termed "a third force" to try to settle the dispute.

Between

The formula suggested by Kennedy would apparently fall between present mediation moves and arbitration. In the latter approach, both sides agree to accept the settlement ordered by an arbitrating group.

In a special statement read to his news conference, Kennedy said: "In my view, one solution to this prolonged strike, if no immediate progress is made, would be for the striking printers, companies and other involved unions, to submit their differences to independent determination of some kind."

He criticized Bertram Powers, president of the striking typographers, for being obstinate in the 75-day deadlock.

Powers' attitude, the President said, "is bad for the union movement, bad for the newspaper, and bad for the newspaper public." The strike, he declared, has passed the point of "public toleration."

The publishers immediately accepted but Powers said he did not believe his striking printers would agree.

The publishers urged that picket lines be withdrawn while the solution was worked out.

In rapid fire order came these developments:

—The Publishers' Asociation of New York City said it was ready to submit the dispute "to an appropriate form of independent determination for final binding resolution."

Not Flatly

—Powers did not flatly reject Kennedy's suggestion, but said if the President made a specific request for arbitration he would submit it to a union vote and predicted the membership would reject it. He said the union constitution forbade arbitration.

—The publishers sent a telegram to Powers saying they were ready to meet and discuss Kennedy's proposal. The telegram suggested picket lines be withdrawn so the papers could resume publication while the proposal was being carried out.

Other highlights of the news conference were:

—The President flatly predicted that "we are going to get a tax cut." He said there is "majority support among those closest to the economy" for a reduction although there is one basic difference among them: "What they are arguing about is, who is going to get the tax cut."

—Kennedy said even though a nuclear test ban treaty may not limit the spread of nuclear weapons the United States must try to reach agreement on a treaty with the hope it will. If France continued to test after any treaty is signed the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union would have to decide whether this nullified such a treaty, he said.

—Asked if the United States had explored the possibility that concealed, hardened missile sites might exist in Cuba, Kennedy said Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara had asserted he was convinced "beyond a reasonable doubt" that no such sites existed.

Opposed

—In reply to a question Kennedy said he is "opposed to the 35 hour week" even if it is negotiated by collective bargaining.

—The President appealed to Congress to enact his medical care for the aged program this year to meet "our responsibilities as a free nation."

Wilber Businessmen Planning Own Factory

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Wilber — Staggered by the sudden loss of their largest industry, businessmen here may bounce back by becoming that same factory's competitor.

A proposed $250,000 local corporation may follow Better Buys Inc., producing aluminum doors and windows —in the same facilities and with most of the same employes. A surprise announcement came two weeks ago that the firm would move to larger quarters in Oxford.

Chamber of Commerce President James Glaser was named chairman Thursday night of an 11-man steering committee to solicit initial stock pledges of $100,000 for the "do-it-ourselves" venture. Hopes are to begin production within the next few months at the plant, tentatively titled "Wilber Mfg. Co."

'Not From Spite'

Although there was disappointment that weeks-long Chamber efforts had failed to keep Better Buys in Wilber, Glaser insisted that the new factory would not be born of spite. With 3 buildings and nearly 30 experienced employes already available, he explained "this simply appears to be the easiest way to replace what we've lost."

"With countless other window factories, one more isn't going to hurt Better Buys," he continued. "It can do a lot for Wilber."

Already contacted as a likely manager is Paul Brinkman, one of 3 brothers who started the BB operation with $9,000 borrowed locally in 1957. He left the firm 3 years later and is now a Kearney car salesman.

Coast Guard Lt. William Troutman exhibits Sulphur Queen lifevest.

Sea Hunt Boosted

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Two new lifejacket finds, within a 20 mile radius of Miami, intensified Thursday a Coast Guard search of the area for the vanished tanker Marine Sulphur Queen.

Coast Guard search and rescue headquarters at Miami said one of its helicopter pilots, Lt. Peter Rots, recovered a life ring, with a lifejacket and also a man's shirt made fast to it.

Rots reported signs of shark activity in the vicinity, off Fowey Rocks Light southeast of Miami. He said the shirt was knotted by its sleeves to the life ring.

The Coast Guard said a privately owned craft, the Marjorie E., found a lifejacket 20 miles east of Miami Thursday.

Other flotsam, picked up Wednesday, was considered the first tangible clue to disappearance of the 523-foot tanker, laden with 15,000 tons of molten sulphur, since it left Beaumont, Tex., Feb. 2.

Name Third Crash Body; 4th Sought

The third dead crew member of a Lincoln Air Force Base B47 that crashed in Minnesota Wednesday was identified Thursday as Lt. Michael R. Rebmann.

Meanwhile, search parties combed the countryside near Comfrey, Minn., for any sign of the fourth crew member, Lt. Col. Lamar E. Ledbetter.

The dead identified Wednesday were Capt. Donald L. Livingston, 31, of 4100 Dunn, aircraft commander, and Lt. Thomas Hallgarth, 22, of 3621 Pawnee.

Lt. Rebmann, 23, lived at 4312 Touzalin Ave. The missing Col. Ledbetter, who is 41, resided at 6049 Sarnoski Drive, LAFB.

The plane crashed near Comfrey after completing a low-level radar bomb run at a target area in the crash vicinity.

Temperatures in the search area ranged below zero, dipping to minus 17. Civil Air Patrol teams of about 35 men and two planes were involved in the search for the missing man. No parachute was reported sighted by area residents.

Kennedy Seeks Broad Aid Plan For Nation's Aged

Washington (UPI)—President Kennedy asked Congress Thursday for a broad-scale program to help the nation's aged with an expanded version of his controversial medical care proposal as the main feature.

The Medicare bill, defeated by the Senate last year, still faces an uphill fight in Congress.

Administration sources placed a price tag of nearly $10 billion on the 36-point program over a 5 year period. It would include special housing programs for the aged, liberalized old age assistance, a tax break and other benefits advocated in the past by the President.

Increase SS Rates

To finance the Medicare program, Kennedy recommended that Social Security rates be increased one fourth of one per cent with the first $5,200 of annual earnings being taxed instead of $4,800 as at present. The added cost to each employe and employer under the program would amount to as much as $27.50 a year. For the first 5 years, the benefits to be paid out of Social Security trust funds would run an estimated $5.2 billion.

Kennedy also proposed that about 2.5 million persons over 65 who are not under Social Security be brought in under the program at a cost of $360 million.

The President told the House and Senate in his 16-page message that his hospital insurance plan was "our number one objective for our senior citizens" and "the most important health proposal before Congress."

However, the program of providing care under Social Security operations drew prompt fire from several Republicans.

Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., said the proposal would place "a fantastic burden" on taxpayers of the future without solving the basic problem.

It's Sheer Madness

"This is sheer madness," Dominick said, "and but one more example of this administration's complete lack of fiscal responsibility."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who sought to work out a compromise with the administration last year, deplored the dropping of a provision allowing some private hospitalization insurance operations in the government's program.

But he said that he and his colleagues are "ready to cooperate" again in working for passage of a medical care bill.

For the Democrats, Speaker John W. McCormack praised the President's program.

"Surely this land of plenty can afford to assist those who, with advancing years, are confronted with declining earning power," the House leader said.

House passage is the first hurdle facing the program. Last year, Medicare failed to win approval of the House Ways & Means Committee and the compromise legislation was rejected by the Senate 52-48.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield has declared he will press for no Senate action this session until the House acts. Foes of the proposal claim 230 or more House members have promised to vote against any program financed by high Social Security taxes.

The President's message sought to counter opposition claims that the Medicare program would foster socialized medicine.

It would pay for hospital and related services for those over 65, he said, but "not interfere with the way treatment is provided."

Would Not Hinder

"It would not hinder in any way the freedom of choice of doctor, hospital or nurse," Kennedy wrote. "It would not specify in any way the kind of medical or health care or treatment to be provided by the doctor."

Of his overall program, he said it was designed "to enable our senior citizens to achieve both a better standard of life and a more active, useful and meaningful role in a society that owes them much and can still learn much from them."

A key feature of Kennedy's new hospitalization program would be a flexible system of benefits for the elderly.

On reaching age 65, a beneficiary could make a choice of 45 days of hospitalization with no deductible; 90 days with a maximum $90 deductible or 180 days with the patient paying a deductible equal to 2½ days of average hospital costs.

Last year's bill provided only the 90 days with $90 deductible.

Work Together

Kennedy urged all levels of government to work together on helping the country's fast-growing older population. He noted that while there are 17.5 million people over 65 today, this would swell to 25 million by 1980. Life expectancy, the president observed, has risen from 49 years in 1900 to 70 years today.

He told Congress: "This increase in the life span and in the number of our senior citizens presents this nation with increased opportunities. The opportunity to draw upon their skill and sagacity—and the opportunity to provide the respect and recognition they have earned.

"It is not enough for a great nation merely to have added new years to life—our objective must also be to add new life to those years."

IF CHINESE ATTACK . . .

Indians Would Call For Help

. . . FROM WESTERN PALS

New Delhi, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru's government has decided to ask the United States, Britain, Canada and Australia to send planes to defend India against any Chinese Communist air attack, a spokesman said Thursday.

"It is assumed they will rush help," Mrs. Lakshmi Menon, Nehru's chief deputy in the foreign ministry, was quoted as saying.

Mrs. Menon addressed a meeting of the Congress Party after Nehru had told parliament any Chinese aerial attack, supporting a possible reopening of the border war, would be met with help from friendly countries.

If Attacked

A briefing officer said members of the Congress Party's standing parliamentary committee asked Mrs. Menon what India would do if China should attack tomorrow. Reading from notes, the officer said this was Mrs. Menon's reply:

"In case of such a sudden emergency, we will ask friendly powers to send in their planes. These countries are already associated with the air mission. We would approach them to rush in. It is assumed they will rush help."

American, British, Canadian and Australian air force officers have been studying what needs to be done here to enable modern interceptor planes to operate over India if the emergency arose. There was no aerial warfare during the big Chinese border offensive of last fall.

Western official have said the study was purely technical and that a political decision had yet to be made on whether to offer help.

Nehru told parliament "there is no question of stationing any foreign air force or establishing any foreign air base in India."

As he put it, major improvements in Indian air strips, radar and communications systems are necessary "to make it possible for the Indian air force to meet any sudden emergency, when it arises, with the help of friendly countries."

He also said that "we have to obtain some aircraft and have our men trained also. We should try to be as fully prepared as we can both for short term and long term. India has to be defended with its own efforts but welcomes equipment, material and other help in air defense."

Cubans Attack Peace Group

. . . POLICE HALT REFUGEE RIOT IN MIAMI

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Charging through a hail of bottles and rocks, police squads put down a Cuban refugee riot that erupted Thursday in the face of picketing by a peace group.

Thirteen Cubans were arrested in the crowd of 350 which drew some 100 policemen and 3 fire units to the scene in front of the Cuban Revolutionary Council headquarters.

The 4 pickets, reportedly members of the Committee for Nonviolent Action, were taken to the police station for interrogation but were not booked.

Half Hour

The midmorning fight lasted about 30 minutes and was watched by large crowds behind rope barriers. The pickets announced earlier they would appear at the headquarters.

Police were prepared. Spanish speaking police agents circulated through the crowd before the fighting broke out but their presence obviously infuriated the refugees.

The pickets, 3 boys and a woman, were not identified. Police intelligence officers said the woman pacifist told them she had come here from New York to lead the demonstration.

They wore signs reading, "we oppose military action," "thou shalt not kill," and "Peace Corps, not Marine Corps, in Latin America."

Reports circulated that the crowd planned to march on the police station. Immediately 20 patrol cruisers and 25 helmeted officers, many with police dogs, blocked entrances to the station. The mob did not appear.

A fire hose was connected to a hydrant in the downtown riot area but was not turned on. The arrested Cubans were charged with disorderly conduct and breach of the peace and were ordered to appear in Municipal Court Feb. 27.

Tossed Coral

Women among the exiles joined in tossing coral rocks, weighing two to 5 pounds, into the police ranks.

A short time after Donald D. Pomerleau, Miami public safety director, asked the Cuban leaders to break up the demonstration, the crowd surged toward police lines.

Some members of the Bay of Pigs invasion appeared in uniform and urged the exiles onward. However, one of the brigade's members, Gabriel, Del Rio, said, "it was just emotion."

Wrong

"I know it was wrong," he added. "We have been through so much that we could not stand it any more. They told us there was going to be trouble, and so we went."

Three of the men booked at the police station identified themselves as brigade members. They were Jose A. Canton Bobadilla, Ruben Lopez Quintero and Raul Artiles. They asserted they were victims of communism.

Humphrey Convinced Russia Wants Treaty Banning Tests

Geneva (AP)—Sne. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Thursday he is convinced the Soviet Union wants a treaty banning nuclear tests, in order to stop Communist China from developing nuclear weapons.

"I imagine the Russians may be losing a night's sleep now and then over what might happen if Red China develops its own nuclear arms," the Senator told a news conference. "I don't think the Russians would be very happy to see the Chinese possessing Chinese-produced nuclear weapons and Chinese-produced delivery systems."

Humphrey, who is here as the Senate's observer of disarmament negotiations, suggested the Kremlin now may be reviewing its policies to decide whether to ease the Soviet position in the test ban negotiations in Geneva.

West Waiting

The West is waiting for the Russians to offer more on-site inspections and to show willingness to negotiate details of the entire enforcement machinery of a treaty. Such a move must come from the Soviet side to break the stalemate, Humphrey said. Then he added with emphasis:

"We will not take the two to 3 on-site inspections a year offered by the Soviet Union. The Russian offer is totally unacceptable."

The West wants a minimum of 8 such checks a year on suspicious earth tremors in the Soviet Union.

Negotiable

"But that number is negotiable," Humphrey said, "even though in our considered judgment 8, 9 or 10 inspections would be proper."

After attending sessions of the disarmament conference this week, Humphrey said he is optimistic that a treaty will be produced. But he warned that time is beginning to run out for the marathon negotiations, which have dragged on for more than 4 years.

Beyond Reach

If no nuclear test ban agreement is reached by April, Humphrey said, all disarmament measures could be put "beyond the reach of mankind in our time — it would be whistling in the dark."

The conference is not working to any deadline. Humphrey explained to newsmen, however, that continued delay would bring these dangers:

—Failure at Geneva could plunge the world into a new arms race.

—The big power competition to set off new series of explosions usually is at its height in warmer weather. "When the testing boys get the fever to test they bring a lot of pressure on governments," he said.

Humphrey said the U.S. government is making every effort to get a meaningful agreement.

Neurotic Executive Has An Advantage

Chicago (AP) — If you're a driving business executive with your sights trained on the very top, your chances of getting there are better if you're a little neurotic, a psychiatrist said Thursday.

The behavior trait that could give you the needed extra shove to arrive ahead of the others is called "neurotic competitiveness."

Dr. C. Knight Aldrich said the trait can bring lavish rewards in a business career, but also can lead to problems in such areas as health, home life and old age.

But if the driving businessman has some understanding, flexibility and the persistence to face the new problems created, he can work out reasonably satisfactory solutions, the psychiatrist added.

Aldrich, professor and chairman of the department of psychiatry at the University of Chicago, made these points at a meeting of the Executive Program Club, alumni group of the executive program of the university's graduate school of business:

A man whose past unsolved conflicts add a neurotic component to his normal competitive drive has an advantage over his associates.

"If, like the perfectionist who is nervous when things aren't perfect, he is nervous when he hasn't won the competition, he will work at it night and day and over weekends while his better adjusted competitor relaxes with his family.

"And, provided that our neurotically competitive subject can restrain himself, when to be openly competitive would be impolitic, there is no doubt of the outcome. If all other considerations of integrity, tact, intelligence, influence and so on balance out, the man with the single-minded devotion to competition wins."

Aldrich said the price of success can bring "more then their share of ulcers" and other illnesses and boredom in home life, hobbies and retirement.

He said gaining insight into these problems would help the individual modify his life patterns and perhaps channel his competitive drive into new interests such as politics or charitable and artistic affairs.

Ag, Interior Depts. Ask Transfer Of NAD Land

. . . 10,556 ACRES INVOLVED IN REQUEST

Washington (AP)— The Agriculture and Interior Departments have filed official requests for 10,556 acres of the Hastings (Neb.) Ammunition Depot, to be abandoned by the Navy.

A spokesman for the General Services Administration said Thursday the formal letters seeking transfer of the land were received by its Kansas City regional office.

However, the spokesman said he could give no estimate as to when a decision would be reached. He said previous estimates pointing to action this month were not expected to be met.

The Agriculture Department plans to establish a meat animal research station on 10,236 acres if its modified application is approved. Originally, the department sought 10,556 acres but changed this when the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife filed a request for 320 acres.

The spokesman said a report on the applications has to be submitted to the Washington headquarters. After consideration there it is forwarded to the Budget Bureau for action.

He said further that the Welfare Department had served notice that the Nebraska Department of Institutions expressed an interest in most of the remaining 180 acres. Hastings College also has expressed an interest in a building on the property.

However, no formal requests for such transfers have been filed.

Hike To Doniphan Challenge Accepted By Grand Islanders

Grand Island (AP) — Grand Island officials have accepted a challenge from the Hastings mayor and city attorney for a hike to Doniphan, and issued a challenge of their own to have 4 councilman from each city join in the hike.

Mayor Frank Ryder, however, won't be wearing marching boots. His place will be filled by council President Harold Schuessler who will march strides with Hastings Mayor Hans (Jack) Thorne. Grand Island City Attorney Richard Huber will make the hike in competition with Hastings attorney Gerald Whelan.

Earlier this week Thorne had proposed that mayors and city attorneys of the two cities start walking from their respective towns toward Doniphan, which is about 12 miles from each city.

Thorne and Whelan, both in the 30s, agreed that Dr. Ryder, who is in his 70s, could nominate an elected councilman to act as his substitute.

Councilman Robert Sorensen suggested that the president of the Grand Island council take Dr. Ryder's place. He then moved to issue a challenge to 4 members of the Hastings council.

"Their council members are a little older than ours," Sorensen noted.

"I think we ought to send our 4 oldest men then," said councilman Walter Stull. There are 8 members on the Grand Island council.

Huber, who has been described as Grand Island's version of Pierre Salinger, interrupted the conversation, which took place during a council meeting:

"I feel it my duty," he said, "to remind you that we have a legal problem. We don't know where our city boundaries start."

This brought smiles to the councilmen's faces. The city has been engaged in litigation for several months over annexation at the southern edge of Grand Island, which does make boundaries uncertain.

Arrangements for the hike have been left in the hands of Huber. Councilmen agree, however, that it won't be this coming Saturday.

"Sundays are out," the councilman noted, "because of our Sunday closing law. Sunday is our day of rest."

Mayor Ryder reported that a 60-year-old man had volunteered to accept the challenge in behalf of Grand Island. "He said he'd wear rubber boots and still walk their pants off," the mayor said.

Dr. Rhoades, NU Agronomist, Soil Researcher, Dies At 55

Dr. Harold F. Rhoades, 55, veteran University of Nebraska agronomist who compiled a long and outstanding record as a teacher and researcher in soils, died unexpectedly Thursday afternoon.

Dr. Rhoades

Dr. Rhoades, professor of agronomy at the College of Agriculture, resided at 1138 No. 44th Street. He had been associated with the university's Department of Agronomy since 1934 and had served as a full professor since 1948. He coordinated the department's soils research for many years.

Dean E. F. Frolik of the College of Agriculture termed Dr. Rhoades' death as a "great loss to the institution and to the State of Nebraska. Through his untiring efforts in soils research, Dr. Rhoades made a tremendous contribution to the economy of Nebraska."

"Dr. Rhoades contributed considerable basic information which led to the establishment of two large fertilizer plants in Nebraska at La Platte and at Hastings," Dr. Frolik added.

Dr. Rhoades was always interested in students. He taught numerous undergraduate classes. He served as advisor for 22 students working on M. S. degrees and 4 students working on PHD degrees.

Dr. Rhoades helped organize soil research projects at the outstate experiment stations at Mitchell, North Platte, Alliance and Concord. He was a recognized authority in the field of soil, chemistry and fertility.

A native of Hackberry, Okla., Dr. Rhoades received his B. S. and M. S. degrees from the University of Missouri respectively, and his Ph.D. degree from the University of Nebraska.

After a short period of time spent on the agronomy staffs at the University of Missouri and North Carolina State College, he joined the NU staff in 1934 as assistant in soils, advancing to instructor in 1935, assistant professor in 1937 and associate professor in 1942.

He served as chairman of the resolutions committee of the American Society of Agronomy — 1952-53; was a member of the editorial board of the Agronomy Journal since 1955; and served as president of the Nebraska Academy of Sciences in 1958 and 1959. In 1961, he was named chairman of the academy's long range planning committee.

In 1960, Dr. Rhoades assisted with a tour by members of the International Congress for Soil Science through Nebraska and the Midwest. He served as Nebraska collaborator with the U.S. Salinity Laboratory at Riverside, Calif., for many years.

Dr. Rhoades was a fellow in the American Society of Agronomy and also of the American Society for the Advancement of Science, and a member of the Soil Science Society of America, the International Soil Science Society, the American Association for the Advancement for Science, Alpha Zeta and Gamma Sigma Delta, honorary agricultural societies; Sigma Xi, honor society; Phi Lambda Upsilon, fraternity; and the American Society of Sugar Beet Technologists.

In the community, Dr. Rhoades was active in the First Baptist church where he taught an adult Sunday school class. He served on several boards and committees of the church and was active in Boy Scout activities.

He is survived by his wife, Catherine; and two sons: Robert A., attending George Williams University at Chicago, Ill. and David Harold, high school teacher at Lawrence, Kan.; mother, Mrs. Charles Rhoades of Marionville, Md.; one grandchild; brother, William N. Hartley of Kansas City, Mo.; and sister, Mrs. J. K. Wyckoff of St. Joseph, Mo.

Feed Grains Research Plan Main Need—Lenz

The president of the Nebraska Feed Grain Growers Association, Orville Lenz of Elmwood, said Thursday that Nebraska's main need is a strong research program for the near 500 million bushel yearly production of feed grains.

Nebraska News

Lenz said that the opportunities are so great for Nebraska to capture another first in agricultural research through adoption of LB711 which would establish a feed grains commission patterned after the state's Wheat Commission that it warrants the support of all farm organizations and both rural and urban citizens.

Lenz in referring to charges made by W. H. Otto of Bradshaw, a former NFGGA vice president, that members would withdraw from support of the feed grains bill because of National Farmers Organization members supporting the organization, said:

"I doubt if anyone cares what organizations farmers belong to if they support a program that is vitally needed and one that offers promise of increasing Nebraska income by millions each year. I welcome all farmers to join in support of the legislation and would definitely not limit membership because of what farm organization they belonged to," said Lenz.

Lenz pointed out that Otto has experienced difficulty in his previous association with the NFGGA and that he resigned his vice-presidency following dissention with officers and directors of the previous board.

"It will probably appear that Mr. Otto finds something wrong with everyone but himself and we have no time for individual differences if we are going to boost Nebraska agriculture," said Lenz to criticism leveled by Otto that Lenz was more interested in himself than the organization.

Background Of An Issue

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

One thing most people learn pretty early in life is that they seldom are able to come up with the right and only answer to a problem. This should not prevent people from having an opinion on things but it should cause them to become quite understanding and a little less opinionated. This is the case in the matter of sidewalk parking—a subject that was discussed on this page yesterday. The discussion prompted a phone call from one who sees the matter differently than we did.

This man argued the business way of looking at the situation and he is hardly to be condemned for this. Not only do the adjoining business firms pay for their sidewalk parking permit, he noted, but they must hard-surface the area and maintain that surface, including prompt shoveling of snow in the winter. Of course, under the law, everyone is supposed to remove the snow promptly from his sidewalks but perhaps everyone is not as diligently pursued on the subject as are holders of sidewalk parking permits. These are facts to be weighed against the general public right to use the public sidewalks.

Responsibilities Involved

But this is really only the beginning. The real issue in the question is one of more significance to the community. The real question is how far a community goes with its businesses in helping and encouraging them. This gets to be a touchy question as many people want nothing for business and don't even want to give the matter consideration.

Yet, we do perform things for business and we do cooperate with those who engage in trade and commerce in our community. One of the best examples of this is in the wholesale district where the entire area, practically, is devoted to commerce. There is no public parking in much of this area simply to permit the firms doing business there to conduct their affairs freely.

These firms park trucks all over these areas but the public in general is not permitted to park. Many times a sidewalk or an entire lane of traffic will be blocked by some truck loading or unloading merchandise. Other businesses use the public space above the public open ways with such things as signs and marquees while still more use the space under the sidewalks which is also public property. And even these things are just a beginning. There are loading and unloading zones along curbs where the general public cannot park but where merchants make deliveries and pick up goods. This, too, is essentially a private use of public space. There are taxi stands where only cabs can park and short-time parking meters to give merchants a turnover of parking space near their doors.

There are curb cuts by the jillion and every one of them takes up public parking space for a private use. Contractors who erect buildings will, for a fee, take over an entire public walkway for months and sometimes for a year or more, strictly for the benefit of themselves and the company that has employed them. These are just a few of the ways in which the government or the public serves business and industry at what some would undoubtedly say was the public expense. Yet, the practices are invariably based on a public welfare concept.

The idea of a taxi stand is not to benefit the cab companies, but to make cabs available to the public when they want them. The idea of a 15-minute parking meter is not to keep parking spaces open for a business that wants to park there. The idea of a curb cut is not to benefit the abutting property, but to serve the convenience of the public that wants to patronize that business.

The idea of no parking in such areas as the wholesale district is not to turn the streets there over to the business operations, but to make the areas safe and reasonably efficient in moving traffic for the general public. The idea of a loading and unloading zone is not to give a special privilege to those delivering and picking up merchandise, but to keep such activities from interfering with the general public movement of traffic.

And the same idea can be applied to sidewalk parking—the idea not being to serve the specific business involved, but to serve the public that makes use of that business and to keep that business from interfering with moving public traffic and competing for other public parking areas. Take your choice: these practices are either a special benefit to private interests or in the welfare of the general public. It isn't a matter of fact, but a matter of opinion, a question of attitude. We could cut out all such practices but we would cut out a lot of business in the process and who would benefit from this?

Fine Line of Interests

Our opinion still is that sidewalk parking cannot be denied the general public if it is permitted at all but even this seemingly simple issue can become a very complicated question. Where does the interest of private groups and individuals end and where does the public interest begin? This is a question government has wrestled with for years in traffic movement, parking, zoning, annexation, paving, sewers, police protection, etc., and which will never cease to plague it.

Two Advisable Actions

It is rather unusual to have the Legislature vote as a whole to bring a bill to the floor after the measure has been killed in committee. The reasons for this are many but it has now been done twice by the senators and on issues that deserve the full attention of the Unicameral. The two issues are state appropriation of unclaimed private property and the experimental use of voting machines in Douglas and Lancaster Counties.

No senator would want the practice brought into frequent use but it is a tool of government and one that should be used when the situation demands. If abused, it would destroy the effectiveness and even the need for committees, without which the Legislature could not function. Also, there is a natural reluctance on the part of senators to override their colleagues when the initial decision was presumably made in the light of many facts.

But no such damage has resulted from these two cases of bringing bills out of committee. Both are measures the state would be well advised to pass and certainly they deserve the attention of all senators. The state, it should be remembered, is not taking someone's property when it takes unclaimed holdings. It is taking only that which at the time belongs to no one. Certainly, it is not properly an asset of any bank.

Voting machines have been controversial due to uncertainty as to their savings and their accuracy. But claims of efficiency and accuracy are strong enough and have enough supporting evidence to warrant at least a trial of the machines, particularly in Douglas and Lancaster Counties where voting and counting of the vote have become such a burden with their volume.

Strengthening The Line

Down on the under side of the world the British are busy on a confederation plan. Its significance far outweighs the attention it is getting.

The plan would federate Borneo, Malaya, Brueni, Singapore and Sarawak, a largely island area below the Philippines.

Why bother about these subtropical islands populated mostly by Malay natives who, on the average, consider the height of modernity to be wearing a hat some missionary just lately lost, and little else?

The answer to this is to consult the map. The islands stand guard on the access route between eastern Asia and the Indian Ocean, that is, to say, between China and Europe by water. And the way through the islands is by the way of Singapore which is comparable to the narrow gateway between the Mediterranean and the Atlantic Ocean, namely the Straits of Gibralter.

A federation supporting the West would backstop present efforts to hold old French Indochina with India as the flanking partner. In short it would complete the land-sea defense line against trouble from underneath.

The contemplated federation does not include Indonesia which includes neighboring Sumatra, Java, Timor and portions of Borneo. But that is what makes it the more interesting. Indonesia is vigorously expansionist minded and, at this state, no one can be quite sure just which way Indonesia will go ultimately. In that part of the world, no one can be too certain. In World War II Great Britain felt too sure of the French in Indochina as a defender on land at the rear of Singapore. But the French lost to the Nazis who promptly ordered the puppet Vichy government to give privileges to Japanese armies. That finished Singapore.

Trying Question

The Field Enterprises, a publishing house, has made America's 16 astronauts a fabulous offer for exclusive rights to their personal stories.

No doubt the concern expects such a deal, if it can be engineered, to be quite gainful. And, no doubt, the astronauts in this instance would do as well as movie stars and other celebrities. The profit quotient is pre-eminent all the way around.

But America is suffering from a case of split personality. Some will hold that it is both desirable and proper for the astronauts to accept gain. President Eisenhower was enriched by publishing his war memoirs. Charles Lindbergh found profitable sales from publishing his account of his transAtlantic flight. And so have many other eminent and public serving individuals. The quality of their deeds was one thing and later gainfulness was another. Besides America practices profit and considers, with a good deal of proof, that material rewards for the individual is the superior way of achieving national advancement.

Others will question the intrusion of commerce into the space contest and hold that the astronauts could have made no orbital flights had they not been associated with a great company of scientists, engineers and others who are being forgotten or at least diminished by so much fondness for those who rode the space ships.

There is the fact that man cannot live by bread alone. Certainly the country should not go to the point where price is the big consideration for living or ceasing to live. When it gets to that point a society has lost its usefulness. It becomes a machine that uses all its horsepower to turn its own wheels without pouring out a product.

Drain On Gold May Affect Servicemen

WASHINGTON — It looks as if Eisenhower's old plan of banning servicemen's families from going overseas will be revived.

It's being done very quietly, and may be denied. However, the drain on the dollar is such that Secretary of Defense McNamara is working on ways to discourage or even stop servicemen's families from going overseas. He hopes to apply the new order very quietly as individual servicemen are rotated.

Ike had issued the "no families overseas" order in the fall of 1960. There was such a howl from servicemen that Kennedy canceled it in the winter of 1961. But the drain on the dollar has continued.

What further worries Kennedy economists is De Gaulle's plan to exclude American farm products. If De Gaulle erects tariff barriers against one billion dollars worth of U.S. wheat, tobacco, poultry, etc., sold to the Common Market, the dollar drain will become such that a very large number of American troops will have to come home.

Senator Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who has waged some of the longest filibusters in history for civil rights, made an unusual speech in the Senate recently. He praised the South as ahead of the Senate on civil rights.

Citing the quiet integration of Clemson College in South Carolina, the "statesmanship of the governor of North Carolina in the elimination of discrimination against colored people," and the quiet return of James Meredith to Mississippi for another semester, Morse urged the Senate to "keep pace with North Carolina and South Carolina and the new generation of far-seeing leaders in the South.

"The nation is far ahead of the Senate in this matter. Even the Deep South is making more progress than the Senate," said the senator from Oregon. "I think it is about time for the Senate to catch up with America."

Demo Liberals Well Haltered

WASHINGTON — The revolt of the more rugged Democratic liberals against Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield is an empty gesture because it is being made in President Kennedy's name and the President clearly has no taste for it.

It was triggered not just by committee assignments but by the transparent Mansfield maneuver to prevent his second-in-command, Senator Hubert Humphrey, from gaining even greater influence with the main body of the Democratic majority.

Mansfield accomplished this result by denying to Humphrey the chairmanship of the Senate Democratic Campaign Committee. This committee collects — and even more important, allocates — money for Senate campaigns. Its chairman reaps prestige, gratitude and publicity, including frequent appearances as the party spokesman on TV.

Humphrey wanted the job. Mansfield gave it to Senator Warren G. Magnuson of Washington, who didn't.

Both men vote about the same way on big issues. Both are adept politicians. But Humphrey is an activist, one of the party's most eloquent spokesmen for the program ostensibly dear to the New Frontier. No one is more popular, except Adlai Stevenson, with fruitful sources of Democratic campaign cash.

☆ ☆ ☆

Senator Magnuson is much more parochial in his interests and famed for what he has done for Northwest states, particularly in the rest of that area which is less prosperous. He is not well known outside it and does not care to be.

His colleagues can count on him to be decent and fair. He would readily concede that Humphrey does far more party chores. His appointment, in short, is another typical move by the adept Southern minority to keep all really crucial posts in the hands of Western or Southwestern lieutenants whose interests are relatively narrow because their sparsely populated states are less industrialized, their politics less dynamic.

Senator Mansfield is himself an example of this strategy. He was chosen for second-in-command by the then Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas who put together the Southern-Western base of Democratic power, and he succeeded to the leadership when Johnson became vice president.

☆ ☆ ☆

Perhaps Mansfield, who will have a hard fight for re-election next year, will perhaps feel happier in conservative Montana with Senator Magnuson at his side. Humphrey's friends feel he has been unjust to his principal helper in the hard work of managing the Senate and they do not accept his quoted excuse that he feared Humphrey might spread himself too thin.

Humphrey's claims seemed particularly strong for the campaign coming up. The unusually high percentage of Democrats seeking re-election — 21 outside the South, three in it — will for the most part have to look outside business for money.

This is the fact which really galls such liberals as the outspoken Joseph S. Clarke of Pennsylvania. Their votes are taken for granted after they have had to struggle for election in the dynamic states. Then the ripest fruits fall to Southerners or men agreeable to them.

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

It's Income Tax Time Again

By MONA B. PARKER

The Pawnee Republican's Max Martin found it to be a disagreeable time of year from just about every point of view. The gas company manager had been rubbing his hands together, "not to keep them warm like the rest of us this cold weather but in anticipation of the gas bills." Besides fuel bills, there were income taxes, tax assessments, license taxes and the usual run of other expenses.

Mr. Martin was giving the matter of hibernation some serious thought.

☆ ☆ ☆

The February thaw was greeted with much enthusiasm on all sides.

Sure feels good when the cold weather lets up, agreed the Cambridge Clarion. "Kinda like hitting yourself over the head with a hammer. Feels so good when you quit . . . "

Mrs. Roy Ahrndt, Scribner farmwife, even went so far as to wander out and explore the garden area. But her husband told her it was much too early yet, with the ground ice-packed and slippery . . .

Otto Carlson of Lyons felt rather at a loss with dry sidewalks all around. The Mirror-Sun told how he had gotten so used to hearing the snow squeak underfoot that he kept listening for and missing the sound . . .

Three Polk fishermen could stand it no longer. They headed for Gavins Point to see what the prospects were. Meanwhile Progress Editor Norris Alfred bought himself 10 pounds of frozen walleye fillets, figured the cost at 70 cents a pound. He considered it a bargain compared with one fishing trip, where the estimate on the haul ran to $2 per pound.

Dick Lindberg of the Sargent Leader thinks the record - breaking temperature reading of 35 degrees below the zero mark of a few weeks ago has a certain amount of merit in it.

"I had told my 10-year-old son that a paper route would help make a man of him. He was a believer by the time the thaw started."

George Miller of Papillion is not quite sure just how his small daughter identifies herself these days, he says. When queried about some uneaten food on her plate one evening recently, the young miss waved the matter aside with the comment that "food is for people."

"It is true that she has gone through three years with very little heed to nourishment. We had not realized she has set herself apart as a member of some other segment of the world about us."

There's a practical joker in Grand Island, reports the Independent, who is doing very well by himself by betting any takers that he has a bigger bill on him than the other fellow. And he is collecting by producing, not a $100 note or $500 note, but a $1 bill printed in the early 30's before the size of currency was changed.

Tomorrow's New Hero

Lincoln, Neb.

Washington answered Freedom's call
And became the hero who gave his all
To end a tyrant's reign.

Between the Old World and the New
Columbus sailed and Lindbergh flew
Over the bounding main.

Imbued with the spirit of derring-do
Each hoped to see a dream come true
And did not hope in vain.

If you hope to perpetuate your name
And win a niche in the Hall of Fame
You must take as great a chance
As the hero who set your country free,
The sailor who sailed an unknown sea,
Or the flyer who flew to France.

There's a wider field unexplored today
Where satellites romp and meteors play,
In which you can win your place
When once you've traveled the Milky Way,
And in banner headlines the papers say—
"He has Conquered Outer Space!"

License Plate Usage

Lincoln, Neb.

Sometimes Star articles go quite a ways without saying much. However, the article about beat-up license plates was short, to the point, and carried quite a bit of sense.

I realize that economy may have been the purpose of this legislation but it would appear that, in this instance, the taxpayer was cheated. For all the taxes Nebraskans have to pay to drive a car, the license plates should be gilt-edged or gold or silver-plated. The state car license fee in itself isn't so bad — in fact, it is probably too low if it weren't for the lousy property tax that goes hand in hand with the license fee. Some of these license plates are almost unrecognizable after two years. What will they be after four years of usage?

Missouri is one of the neighboring states which has used a license plate for several years. The ones that can be read clearly are only the ones which stay most of the time in a garage. Originally, a license plate was intended so that a law officer or citizen could identify a fleeing car or a wanted vehicle.

It may be that the various states will ultimately supply iron supplements or tonics with automobile licenses. After paying taxes on the beat-up old vehicle, these may be needed if one is going to have strength to drive safely within 30 days. With this we might be able to reduce some TV commercials —who knows?

FEPC Ruling

Geneva, Neb.

The Star carried a letter recently from the Lincoln United Church Women, in which were listed a number of bills before our present Legislature. Among the bills approved by this group was listed LB347, the Fair Employment Practices Measure. I was amazed at their approval of this measure because of the fact that the FEPC laws are highly endorsed by the communists.

The FEPC law is highly discriminatory in that it discriminates against the employer and too often, the skilled employe. When the FEPC law passed in Michigan, a Christian radio minister went to advertise, as he always did, by putting an ad in the newspaper for Christian help. He was informed he could not use the word "Christian" in his ad. He was also told he could not specify what type of help he needed. When he asked why, he was told that the FEPC law forbid such advertising. Hence, he as an employer was discriminated against by being denied the right to advertise for the type of help he needed. Also, the skilled employe who might have applied for the job and gotten it was discriminated against because the employer would be required, under the FEPC ruling, to hire anyone who applied for the job, even an unqualified person.

I still think the employer should have the right to employ the type of person he wants for the job he has open rather than the state's telling him whom he can hire.

By Legislation

Bancroft, Neb.

The Star editorial of February 13, "Point of Distinction," painted a very good word picture of public power's growing pains in Nebraska.

Senate File 310 gave public power a very good starting foundation but as any infant, to develop properly, as it grows it must have added nourishment mostly in the form of guiding rules and regulation.

When the state did not implement the law to keep up with public power growth, the door was left wide open for the controversial problems to develop. If when the first problems came into the picture, our Legislature had spelled out under the original concept of public power in Nebraska the obligations of the generation and transmission system and those of the retail systems and established a formula for fair and equitable rates for and between the various retail systems, most of our present problems would have been avoided.

However, it is not fair to blame the state for not giving us the needed legislation. All of the public power systems, as leaders, had capable, sincere, fair-minded men and the vast majority of them were fearful of asking the Legislature for help. They believed all problems could and would be worked out satisfactorily by negotiating between themselves.

I was as convinced then as I am now that only through proper legislation can we eliminate the costly negotiations and law suits and thereby restore the peace and harmony which did prevail in the early years of public power in Nebraska. I sincerely trust and hope that the present session of our Legislature will enact the needed legislation.

R. CHESTER GRAFF

OFF THE RECORD By Ed. Reed

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

Harrah's Stateline Club sits on the very edge of the California-Nevada border. A mile high in the Sierra Nevada.

You can park your car in sinless California.

Walk across the parking lot and you can do all sorts of sinful things. Get a divorce in 6 weeks. Or bet legally that the first dice you throw will add up to 7.

This little attention to man's eternal dream of wealth has created a mountain real estate boom. From a handful of slot machine stores a few years ago to a glittering, neon row of pleasure palaces today.

Miss Judy Garland isn't hurting it either.

☆ ☆ ☆

If you can hitch a ride by plane or mule train, let me advise you to hustle up to the south shore of Lake Tahoe (or wherever she is) and hear Miss Garland.

The singer has slimmed down—she must be about five foot two. And at that height, a pound shows.

Miss Garland had a run of bad emotional luck. But her singing fortune is riding high.

When she turned loose in the elegant North Shore Room of Harrah's, the audience stood up en masse. Not once. Three times.

It's the most impressive reaction I've ever seen. And must compare with the great, unexplainable things that have happened before when singers hit an emotional chord that sweeps everybody that hears it.

☆ ☆ ☆

The man who changed Stateline from penny ante gambling to big business is Bill Harrah.

Harrah, I hear, pays more taxes to the State Gaming Commission than anybody. That includes the Las Vegas operators.

(For some personal reason. Mr. Harrah objects strongly to being called "the biggest gambler in Nevada." His press agents are more persuasive in avoiding this than in publicizing the Harrah enterprises.)

I guess you could hardly call it gambling at that.

Harrah runs a business enterprise on the lines you might expect of any hardware enterprise. He has training programs. Incentive programs. And the unschooled player can even get an attractive free book telling him how to play anything from bingo to panguini.

☆ ☆ ☆

In the gay and musical interior of a block-long pleasure house, the players work on banks of slot machines that glitter as far as you can see.

Squads of dealers work in shifts, 24 hours a day.

Dice roll at dozens of tables. And the roulette wheels never stop their enchanted spins.

To keep this production line going, Harrah imports the Judy Garlands — estimated cost is $90,000 for three weeks.

Fill the visitor with Garland song and all the elegance of vichysoisse plus lobster tail dinner (at $6.50). You have a full house that is bound to drop a few dimes on the way to the exit a half mile of tempting tables away.

☆ ☆ ☆

All this has put a boom on the local real estate carved out of the pine tree shores of mile-high Lake Tahoe.

A few years ago, this was a block of car stops on the Highway 50 road to Nevada.

Today it has some 10 or more stop-and-go lights controlling traffic.

It must have 50 motels of various price and comforts.

There is a skyscraper hotel and another building.

The California side booms as much as Nevada. For you can walk across the line for Judy and dice. Walk back and sleep in the Golden State.

Where this all will end is guesswork. But plenty of Nevadans think it will outstrip the famous Las Vegas Strip. All the way to Carson City. It's possible.

Dismissal Of Fire Marshal Urged By Senator Klaver

Omaha Sen. Sam Klaver said Thursday he thinks State Fire Marshal Joe Divis should be removed from office.

Klaver said he thinks Divis should be fired for testifying against LB232, a bill to ban all fireworks, except group displays. Klaver introduced the bill, which was killed by the Miscellaneous Subjects Committee.

Divis said a sweeping prohibition would be impossible to enforce.

Divis and county fire officials supported another measure, LB470, permitting the sale of certain fireworks and providing for their regulation by the fire marshal. The committee advanced this measure, backed by the fireworks industry. Only Klaver opposed the bill.

Klaver said it is "inconceivable" the fire marshal should oppose a bill to do away with fireworks. Klaver said his measure would have protected school children from harm.

The Omaha senator declined to say whether he would press for Divis's dismissal.

4% More Meat Animals Listed

The combined inventories of meat animals on Jan. 1, 1963, in Nebraska were up 4% from a year ago, according to the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

A 6% increase in cattle numbers and a 3% increase in hogs more than offset a 5% drop in the number of sheep and lambs on Nebraska farms.

Asian Flu Here Could Cause Overcrowding Of Hospitals

Asian flu, now sitting on Nebraska's doorstep, could cause "standing room only" conditions in Lincoln hospitals if it should strike here.

Hospital administrators, all of whom express belief that emergency measures could be taken to handle an epidemic, admit that hospital beds are at a premium with no let-up expected through February at least.

By next year additional bed space will be available, but here and now both beds and staff are at near-maximum capacity.

Donald Duncan, assistant administrator at St. Elizabeth Hospital, said that medical-surgical patient beds — the area hit by epidemics — are in short supply, and have been at St. Elizabeth since the first of the year.

In event of emergency or epidemic, Duncan explained, the staff and physicians might meet it by postponing non-essential surgery cases, converting private rooms to wards and using other temporary measures.

Staffing would be a greater problem than finding space for patients, he admitted. All of the city's hospitals suffer from lack of reserve staff, he added.

In the past, the Lancaster County Medical Society has called a city-wide meeting of hospital officials and physicians to map out a plan to handle any emergency situation, Duncan said.

Providence Filled

Dr. R. C. Olney, administrator of Providence Hospital, reports his facility is filled to "near-capacity" and has been for some time.

Dr. Olney added that his hospital "and I'm sure the others in the city are ready to meet any reasonable emergency."

Bryan Memorial Hospital administrator, Eugene Edwards, said that the 93 medical-surgical beds at his hospital are filled "practically 100%" at present, and added that near - capacity conditions have existed most of the time for the past 5 years.

Why the crowded conditions? Hospital officials point to the increased population as one factor, since it has not been offset by increase in hospital facilities.

Increased participation in medical - surgical insurance plans has added to the hospital load, as has increased elderly population.

Air-Conditioning Factor

Warm-weather months used to find hospitals at half-capacity, but are now almost as busy as winter months. Air conditioning is a major factor in this, one administrator noted.

Lincoln General Hospital stood at the 100% capacity mark this week, and has fluctuated above and below the capacity mark slightly over the past few weeks, administrator Herbert Anderson reported.

Capacity crowds, with weekend drops, are normal for this time of year, Anderson said, noting that February 1962 saw the hospital running at a 93.1% of capacity rate.

Two Expanding

Prospects for easing the situation increase daily with Bryan's expansion program providing an additional 109 beds by yearend, and a future capacity of 360 to 370 beds when an additional 3 floors are added to the new 3-story wing.

Providence is also expanding to more than double its capacity, with work scheduled to start this spring to bring the hospital size to 125 beds.

The Lancaster County convalescent care center at Lincoln General is up for bidletting in June, and the Lincoln General expansion program for an entirely new hospial and conversion of the present building is underway, although not expected to be completed before 1966.

Earthquake Hits Libya; At Least 250 Are Dead

Wiesbaden, Germany (AP) — An earthquake has struck Northeastern Libya and killed at least 250 people, a spokesman for the U.S. Air Force Headquarters in Europe said here early Friday.

He said the Air Force's Wheelus Air Base near Tripoli, co-capital of Libya, has received requests for aid from the prime minister of Libya.

By Thursday midnight, two C-130 Hercules 4 engine turboprop transports, ambulances and a field hospital had been dispatched to the area, about 300 miles northeast of Wheelus.

"Of course, we expect to have more aid coming," the spokesman said.

A report from Wheelus said there were 250 known dead at about midnight the spokesman said.

Tentative reports placed the quake center in a mountain range near the coast of the Libyan state of Cyrenaica.

The Air Force said first reports of the earthquake spoke of about 50 dead, but later reports spoke of extensive loss of life.

The earthquake was reported centered near a town called Al Marj.

Five rescue aircraft, including helicopters, have been sent. First aid men, equipped to parachute to the scene of trouble, also went along.

Sheriff Asks $2,000 More For Deputies

Sheriff Merle Karnopp Thursday filed a claim with the Lancaster County Board for $2,073.15 for additional salaries for 12 deputies.

That amount represents the difference between the deputies' salaries since Jan. 1 and 75% of Karnopp's salary. An error in a law passed by the 1961 Legislature required all deputies to be paid 75% of the sheriff's salary.

That law was changed by the Legislature Tuesday, limiting the 75% salary to the chief deputy. In anticipation of the change, Karnopp had not budgeted funds for paying deputies at the 75% figure this year, and the additional money is needed to cover the period for which the men legally were entitled to the higher pay.

The board is expected to approve the funds, and Karnopp said he will be ready to submit a new salary schedule for deputies sometime next week.

Nine deputies will receive $188.25 each, two $156.45 apiece, and one will get $120.

GUILTY PLEA IS ENTERED IN ROBBERY

Neal Gregg Rhodes pleaded guilty in Lancaster District Court Thursday to robbing the Erickson Service Station at 2745 O on Feb. 10.

Rhodes, 42, of 649 No. 27th, was specifically charged with taking by force approximately $250 from Edward J. Schmidt, the station attendant.

Lancaster District Judge Herbert Ronin deferred sentencing pending a pre-sentence investigation and committed the defendant to jail.

Among other events scheduled during the meeting is a report on proposed public power legislation by Ralph Foreman of Columbus, manager of the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative, Inc.

Red Declares Soviets Can Hit Polaris Bases

Moscow (AP)— Marshal Andrei A. Grechko declared Thursday that Soviet rockets can reach Polaris submarine bases no matter where they are.

The statement by the deputy defense minister apparently was aimed at influencing countries around the Mediterranean where the United States needs bases for Polaris submarines. The submarines will replace land based rockets in Turkey and Italy.

"Soviet rockets have the capacity to deliver a destructive blow on the bases of atomic submarines with nuclear weapons no matter in what seas or what ports they are hidden," he said in an article in the government newspaper Isvestia.

"The main combat force of the Navy of the Soviet Union is submarines, including atomic ones with rocket nuclear weapons, and up to date surface rocket carrying surface ships."

The statement was part of the buildup for Army-Navy Day Saturday.

Marshal Sergei Biryuzov, commander-in-chief of anti-aircraft defenses, also warned of Soviet military might.

In an interview on Moscow Radio Thursday night in connection with Saturday's Army-Navy day, Biryuzov said: "Our superiority over American rockets is irrefutable."

Biryuzov said rockets have become the main means for destroying ground, air and sea targets, and rockets used in space research have proved the capability and accuracy of Soviet missiles.

Hovland Building Company Files Tax Suit On U.S.

Hovland - Swanson Building Co. of 1230 O has filed a $19,113.85 income-tax refund suit against the U.S. government in Federal District Court.

Plaintiff alleges it filed a 1959 income tax return with a tax of $2,801.60, but the Internal Revenue Service made a deficiency assessment of $18,779.39.

Suit alleges the government unlawfully failed to allow a claimed loss of $34,714.17, which represented the undepreciated value of the building that plaintiff company demolished during the taxable year.

The IRS disallowed the plaintiff's claim for a tax refund on Nov. 8, 1962, according to the suit.

Spotted 'Kittens' Aren't 'Give-Aways'

By TOM KEITH
Star Staff Writer

Ever try to get rid of an unwanted litter of kittens? Mr. and Mrs. Orian Peters, of 1545 No. 51st, are hoping to raise "kittens" and sell them for $500 each.

While this may seem a little steep to pay for an alley cat, dozens of people want to buy the Peters' kittens for just that price.

What kind of kittens are they? Ocelots.

The Peters family now owns 4 ocelots and is planning to raise them.

Peters imports them from Columbia, South America, an says, "They are wonderful animals, so much more so than regular house cats."

'Get Along Well'

"Most people are afraid of them, because they think of them as wild animals," Mrs. Peters said, "but they get along well with anyone."

Just to prove their point, Mr. and Mrs. Peters, both animal lovers, also have 3 children, a spaniel dog and a house cat.

'We never have any trouble. They don't fight amongst themselves and get along beautifully with our other animals," Mrs. Peters said.

The ocelots are very affectionate with the members of the Peters family, and "would be so with strangers also," they say.

Five-year-old Sherry picks them up, hugs them, plays with them and even dresses them in doll clothes and wheels them in her doll buggy.

Sherry Likes Them

"I like them just fine," Sherry said, and tried to pick one of the large males off the floor. The ocelot (Samba) licked her in the face and purred while she rubbed his belly.

"The full grown ocelot will be about two feet long and will weigh close to 40 pounds," said Peters.

Ocelots will eat "anything we give them except milk." The Peters' cats eat chicken necks, vegetables and fish.

Homer, Samba, Tamba and Poko are the sleek, fast declawed ocelot members of the family.

Poko is the baby. It weighs about 8 pounds and is about one foot long.

"People have mixed feelings about ocelots," Mrs. Peters said, "sometimes a woman with a small child will walk past our house and see them (the ocelots) tied in the yard. She will pick the child into her arms and run off."

"Other times strangers are quite friendly and the cats love it."

"Probably the most frequently asked question is in regard to how long we can keep them. You can keep them forever. The older they get, the more affectionate they get," said Mrs. Peters.

The cats have the run of the Peters house, and Tamba, the oldest cat, sleeps with Mr. and Mrs. Peters.

The ocelots, black and golden-brown, have been killed extensively for their pelt. Coats and fur pieces made of ocelot pelts are quite expensive.

The Peters plan to raise the cats and hope to have them become as common as the ordinary house cat. They believe they now are the only family in Lincoln with this type of a pet.

"They are actually more like a dog than a cat in their habits and are very clean. They don't shed," said Mrs.

Only State Can Employ Prison Labor

The Attorney General's Office ruled Thursday that prison labor may not be used by a political subdivision or public corporation performing public works.

Assistant Attorney General Mel Kammerlohr said prisoners can do work for the state, but he said the law is not broad enough to permit their use by counties, cities, watershed districts or other governmental subdivisions.

The opinion had been requested by Carl Botsford, assistant director of the Department of Public Institutions.

"A thorough search of the statutes reveals a convict may be permitted to work outside the Penitentiary only wherever practicable in construction, repairs and improvements at state institutions," the opinion stated.

Also, it continued, inmates may work in prison industries and on farms operated by the Department of Public Institutions.

4 DAYS LEFT TO GET TABS FOR LICENSES

Approximately 10,000 Lancaster County motorists have just 4 more days in which to obtain 1963 license plate tabs before the deadline Feb. 28.

According to Motor Vehicle Bureau Chief Darrell Blank, the number processed to date is about normal, but with the Courthouse closing Friday for George Washington's Birthday, only 4 days remain.

Licenses may be obtained in the basement of the Courthouse between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday next week.

Cuba Rejects U.S. Charges

Havana (AP)—The Castro government rejected Thursday night U.S. charges that two Cuban jet fighters rocketed a disabled American shrimp boat Wednesday in the Florida Straits.

An armed forces ministry communique labeled the Pentagon's version of the incident "a story to justify the long and systematic chain of aggressions and violations of our sovereignty on the part of North American imperialists."

The communique "rejected and denied categorically" the charge that the Cuban planes attacked the shrimper.

The Cuban ministry said:

"Wednesday two reconnaissance planes of our air force made exploratory flights along the north zone of our shores with the aim of locating two Cuban fishing vessels which in previous days were attacked and hijacked . . . with two crewmen injured—a vulgar act of piracy of counterrevolutionary bands organized in the United States and directed by the Central Intelligence Agency.

"Both planes flew low over the small fishing vessel so as to identify it without opening fire or making hostile acts against it."

'WE THOUGHT IT WAS ORDINARY PLANE'

Key West, Fla. (AP) — "We thought it was an ordinary plane. We tried to signal them down."

Two shrimp fishermen who sought help from a Cuba-based MIG fighter plane for their disabled boat told during a news conference Thursday how they were attacked on the high seas.

Paris Jackson, 44, skipper of the Fort Myers shrimp boat, Ala, and his mate, Benjamin Washington, 27, said their engine broke down Sunday and they were unable to use their radio or to navigate.

When the MIG appeared about 5 p.m. Wednesday while the Ala was in the Florida Straits about 60 miles north of Cuba, Jackson began waving frantically for aid.

"It went on by," said Washington, born in Crescent, Ga., near Savannah. "Paris tried to wave them down."

The MIG circled around a nearby lighthouse, they said, then returned and sprayed the water near the Ala with what the two Negroes were certain was machine-gun fire.

Though the Defense Department said the attack was carried out with rockets, Paris and Washington disputed the report.

"It sounded to me like machine guns," said the skipper, a native of Charleston, S.C.

"They didn't fire any rockets," said Washington. "We could have seen them spraying. The bullets went straight down in the water. It couldn't have been a rocket. If it had been, it would have hit the boat."

Neither Paris nor his mate has had military experience but Washington said he is interested in weapons and has made a hobby of reading about armaments.

"No, these weren't rockets," he insisted.

The first jet was joined quickly by 3 more, the fishermen said, and one of the newcomers also fired a burst. The bullets whizzed into the water about 200 yards from the port bow of their 72-foot vessel, they said.

U.S. planes appeared about 5 minutes later, they reported, while the MIG's were still in the area and the attackers departed hurriedly.

Though the two were terrified, they avoided leaving the open deck during their 15-minute ordeal.

"No use to go in the wheelhouse," said Washington. "They'd have thought we had weapons and they'd have sunk us right then."

The men said they had no arms of any kind on board.

"Were you scared?" they were asked.

"Yes, sir," they said. "I'm not feeling too good right now," added Jackson.

"Do you think they really meant to hit you or just wanted to scare you?"

"That's something you can't hardly figure out," said Washington.

Inmate Of Pen Asks Hearing On Stabbing

Thomas Arthur Davis, Penitentiary inmate accused of stabbing another inmate, Harold Schumacher, requested a preliminary hearing in Lancaster County Court Thursday.

Judge Ralph Slocum set hearing for 2 p.m. March 20, in connection with the assault with intent to wound, kill or maim, and habitual criminal charges filed against Davis.

A third inmate, Harry R. Hill, charged with assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury in connection with the Feb. 7 incident, was bound over to District Court Wednesday.

According to authorities, Schumacher was stabbed in the abdomen by Davis while Hill held him.

Huge Theft Kept Secret By The FBI

New York (UPI) — Thieves took a king's ransom in valuables from a wealthy widow's home and for more than 17 months police and the FBI kept the multi-million dollar burglary a secret, it was revealed Thursday.

The burglar or burglars took jewels, a rare coin collection, furs and stock certificates from the New Rochelle, N.Y., mansion of Mrs. Theresa McSweeney, the widow of an oil firm attorney and founder of the U.S. Potash Co.

The stock alone was valued at $5.6 million.

The first public hint of the theft came when the brokerage firm of Laidlaw and Co. issued a warning that stolen stock certificates registered in the name of Mrs. McSweeney were being offered for transfer. There was no further explanation.

The FBI confirmed the theft Thursday and said although an intensive investigation has been under way since the burglary was discovered Sept. 11, 1961, there have been no arrests.

Mrs. McSweeney said she believes the burglars entered her home with a stolen key.

Fruit farmers in northern Italy fire explosive rockets into the air to stop hailstorms. The pressure wave from the blast is believed to interrupt the formation of hail. Farmers in South West Africa use a similar technique.

Terrorists Kill Retired Man; Student Stabbed

Mexico City (UPI) — Police said Thursday unidentified terrorists, believed to be Castro sympathizers, stabbed and killed a retired California department store clerk and stabbed and robbed his Texas student room-mate.

The dead man was identified as Fred Plumley, about 65, a former San Francisco department store worker. The student was Philip Bennett Jr., 24, a Negro of San Antonio, Tex.

Bennett, in serious condition, was said to have given police a description of the two armed assailants. One was believed to be an American and the other a Cuban. Police said they had 4 suspects in custody, including a woman.

Words On Wall

Police said Plumley's body was found alongside a wall on which was scrawled, in pencil, "Cuba, si; Yankees, no." They said a later arrival had scrawled under it: "I am a Mexican — Cuba, Si; Castro, no".

Bennett said the two men jumped him and Plumley as they entered the apartment they were sharing on centrally located Chapultepec Avenue. Bennett had been studying sociology here for the past 4 months. Plumley, who arrived a week ago, intended to stay about 3 weeks.

A greeting card to Plumley from former Vice President Richard M. Nixon was in the former's luggage. Also, 6 envelopes, each of them containing two embroidered napkins, addressed to Mrs. E. R. Steele, Seattle, Wash.

Only Relative

(In Seattle, Mrs. Steele said she was Plumley's stepdaughter and his only relative. She said she had asked him to pick up some gifts for her for a club activity. She said Plumley, who lost his job when the department store for which he was working closed Jan. 31, was checking on Mexico as a living place. She said his only connection with Nixon was through GOP party work.)

Police said Bennett was robbed of $60 in his pockets and also that Plumley's body was rifled. They said the apartment gave indications of a terrific struggle. Blood stains were smeared on bedding and furninture.

Plumley's body was found face down in bed. It bore multiple stab wounds. One wound may have pierced the heart. The body was clothed in a sport shirt and slacks. Plumley's wrists were tied behind his back with a bathrobe belt. His ankles were bound with strip of cloth from a bedsheet.

Bennett said the two men stole his and Plumley's passports. He also was bound, hand and foot. He managed to free himself and shout for help from a window. A neighbor answered his cries and summoned police.

Police sent a general alarm to all border points, airports and seaports for the missing American and Cuban suspects.

Theater To Integrate If Picketing Stopped

Baltimore (AP)—A Baltimore theater agreed Thursday to integrate racially if mass demonstrations and picketing at the theater stop immediately.

A leader of the Civic Interest Group, an integrationist organization which has been trying to break the theater's racial barrier for 8 years, said there would be no more demonstrations there.

At the same time, Judge Anslem Sodaro of the Baltimore supreme bench ordered more than 400 Negro and white college students released from jail immediately on their own recognizance. They had been held on bails up to $600.

Students had picketed and attempted to buy admission tickets at the theater in a stepped-up campaign of the past 6 days. They were arrester night after nigl.t and charged with trespassing or disorderly conduct when they refused to leave after Maryland's trespass law was read to them.

The state law forbids anyone from entering another's property without permission.

Mayor Phillip Goodman announced to pickets staging a protest at city hall Thursday that the Northwood Theater Corp. would integrate Friday "if the acts of trespass and mass protest demonstrations immediately cease."

Moses R. (Reggie) Lewis, Baltimore chairman of CIG, said later in a statement:

"We have obtained our immediate objective and further picketing has been called off."

LAFB Airman Is Fined Following Shooting Incident

A Lincoln Air Force Base airman was fined $100 Thursday on an assault and battery charge filed in connection with a shooting incident near 9th and M early last Saturday.

Carl F. Serrette, 19, pleaded guilty as charged before Lancaster County Judge Ralph Slocum.

Reggie Robinson, 18, of 659 No. 29th, was wounded in the shooting which occurred in front of the Cornhusker Elks Lodge at 229 So. 9th.

FOX UP A TREE, BUT IS CAUGHT

Police and agents of the Humane Society of Missouri went on an impromptu fox hunt Thursday in St. Louis, Mo., after the animal was discovered in a tree 45 feet above the ground. At left, Willie Finney tries to slip a loop over the animal's head and misses. The animal scrambled down the tree and finally was caught as it tried to hide in the hollow of a tree. At right, the captors, Finney, left, and Robert Brandau, both of the Humane Society, admire their prize. The Gray fox, the only type that climbs trees, was taken to the St. Louis Zoo.

Tree Cleared In Court; Accident Ruins Home

London (AP) —A thirsty oak tree was cleared in court of deliberately undermining John Mills's house.

The oak, Justice Sir Gilbert James Paull held, undermined the house, all right. But it was an accident.

Accordingly, he ruled, an insurance company must pay Robert Smith, owner of the oak, the 996 pounds 16 shillings and 6 pence ($2,881.11) which Smith has been ordered to pay Mills for damage to the house.

Smith had a policy indemnifying him against claims made by any person for damage to property caused by accident.

Last summer part of the foundations of the Mills home, next door to Smith's, cracked and collapsed. Investigation showed that the brickwork had been undermined by the oak's wandering roots.

Mills sued Smith and was awarded the cost of fixing the foundations.

Smith then asked his insurance company to pony up. The firm refused, contending that the growth of the tree was natural, not accidental.

Justice Paull said that in British law on personal injury, "a rupture caused by overstrain, or a nervous shock received from some cause, is injury by accident."

"Does it then follow," he asked, "that an unexpected fracture in a house foundation caused by the ground crumbling is damage by accident, even if the crumbling were brought about by a combination of a hot summer and thirsty tree?"

Answering his own question, Justice Paull decided that it does so follow.

State Has 14% Less Turkey Breeder Hens

Turkey breeder hens on Nebraska farms totaled 31,000 birds on Jan. 1 according to the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics Thursday.

This was 5,000 hens or 14% less than a year ago.

So. Pacific, Clerks Discontinue Talks

Chicago (UPI) — Federal Mediator Francis O'Neill announced late Thursday that negotiations between the Southern Pacific Railroad and the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks had been broken off.

O'Neill said the impasse between the two sides over automation had not been resolved.

He assumed the 11,000 Southern Pacific employees represented by the brotherhood would seek authority from their international union to launch a strike.

A strike against the 8,000-mile line could tie up operations in 7 Western states, from Texas to Oregon. The union has claimed it has the support of 39,000 other employes of the line.

O'Neill was unable to say whether there might be further government intervention in the case or if the railroads might seek court action to prevent the strike.

However, the "change of scenery" switch of negotiations from San Francisco to Chicago produced little progress toward agreement.

"We did get a little bit of progress," O'Neill said, but not enough to reach a settlement.

Three Trade School Bills Are Heard

. . . ALL HELD; NO ACTION EXPECTED THIS SESSION

Bills to create new technical trade schools at Grand Island, Ogallala and O'Neill were heard and held by the Education Committee Thursday.

Proponents of the bills all agreed there is an immediate need for another technical school in Nebraska.

No action, however, is expected this year on any such bill. The Legislature indicated this previously when it voted to have a study of the need conducted between sessions.

3 Locations

The bills heard were LB28, for Grand Island; LB697, for Ogallala and LB177, for O'Niell.

All 3 were opposed by Bernard Gyger, representing the Omaha Board of Education, and Charles Novak, manager of the North Platte Development Corporation.

Both urged action be postponed until a study is made so their cities can be considered as possible locations.

State Education Commissioner Dr. Floyd Miller said a survey indicated a desire by 1,000 high-school graduates last June to attend technical school.

He said the trade school at Milford is limited to accepting 375 students a year. Capacity at this two-year state school is 750.

By 1965, Miller estimated, as many as 1,600 graduates may desire such training. He did not make a specific recommendation as to location, however.

Walter B. Lauritsen, Grand Island lawyer, said studies by various groups in that city over the past 4 years show that Nebrsska needs not only a second, but a third trade school. "In fact, this thing (the demand for technical training) is so big, 3 schools may not be enough to handle it."

William Marshall, banker and director of the Grand Island Industrial Foundation, said facilities are immediately available for a trade school at the Cornhusker Ordnance Depot.

Conversion Cheaper

He estimated conversion of buildings there into a school would be $146,000. The cost of building similar facilities would be $681,760, he said.

Marshall explained the federal government would turn over the facilities free of charge to the state for vocational training purposes. The land is located east of Grand Island.

Like the Grand Island delegation, witnesses favoring a school at Ogallala contended their city is in the heart of an area where the demand for technical training is great.

'Would Overlap'

Jack Pollock, vice president of the Ogallala Chamber of Commerce, contended location of a school east of there would overlap areas served by the Milford school.

Hugh Harlan, curriculum coordinator for the public schools there, contended, "A school located anywhere west of Ogallala would serve only Panhandle interests, while anything east would be out of reach for the Panhandle areas."

Sen. Frank Nelson of O'Neill urged location of a new school in his home town. Nelson said there is a great demand for a trade school in the area around O'Neill, which has a population of some 3,500.

Nelson urged committee members to ask themselves whether institutions such as a trade school "should be concentrated in one area or spread out over the state to serve all the population."

New Commission Formed To Study Status Of Women

Governor Morrison announced Thursday the creation of a Nebraska commission on the status of women.

This will be a counterpart, on the state level, Morrison said, of President Kennedy's Commission on the Status of Women created in December 1961.

The governor's action resulted from a suggestion of the Nebraska Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, which has offered to assist in organizing and working with the commission and its various committees.

Bill For Weed District Levy Hike Is Retained

A bill to permit weed eradication districts to increase their levy from one-fourth to three-fourths mill was held by the Agriculture Committee Thursday to permit the attorney general to study legality of a proposed amendment.

The amendment was suggested by the railroads. It would provide that their land be considered just like adjoining farm land when the special tax is computed.

The committee was told railroad right-of-way of 11 acres through a section of land is valued at about $80,000 and railroads therefore pay a disproportionate amount for weed control.

There was also opposition from a representative of the Nebraska Seedsmen's Association who said the whole law ought to be repealed "because it doesn't do any good."

Furthermore, he said, no additions should be made to the property tax.

Chief spokesman for the measure, LB602, was Ellsworth Carlson of the State Weed and Seed Division. He argued, "Local people have the democratic right to organize a weed eradication district," and to have a method which would riase the required amount of money.

Carlson said the legislators could be sure none of the 83 organized districts would try to raise more funds than were actually needed.

The committee was told the present levy is not sufficient in counties with a low valuation.

'Legislature Could Limit Power Ads'

Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer said Thursday he has no doubt that the Legislature "could control or entirely prohibit advertising" by public power districts.

Sen. Clifton Foster of Bradshaw, who has been critical of the advertising practices of some power districts, sought the opinion.

The opinion written by Assistant Atty. Gen. Homer Hamilton said that state law requires power districts to report to the secretary of state the amount of money used "in advertising or publicity campaigns designed to affect legislation."

"This is a tacit acknowledgement by the Legislature that they do have authority to conduct advertising campaigns," the opinion said.

"In addition, it appears that they have an implied power to advertise to accomplish the purpose for which they were created," it added.

As a result of the opinion, Foster said he is having a bill prepared for introduction to prohibit power district advertising designed to influence elections or legislation.

Bill Changed: Deputy's Pay Up To Meyer

A bill allowing the attorney general to set his deputy's salary was amended and advanced by the Salaries and Claims Committee Thursday.

LB444 introducer Terry Carpenter asked the increase from $9,500 to $12,000 be stricken and such an increase be left up to the attorney general.

Clarence Meyer, attorney general, said, "The Legislature has never seen fit to let me set that salary but I know it must be increased for I am far below the market when trying to fill vacancies in my office."

Meyer, who has a deputy and 6 assistants, said there were two vacancies in his office last summer and that he received no applications from experienced lawyers.

A companion bill, LB123, asked an increase from $11,500 to $17,500 for the attorney general himself, effective 1965.

That bill was held as well as LB23 calling for increases for Supreme Court judges and the chief justice from $13,000 to $25,000. The national average is $19,000.

It also asked salaries of district judges be raised from $11,000 to $17,500. The national average is $15,885.

Advanced 5-0 was LB411 providing for county boards to fix the hours during which county offices will remain open for business and a penalty for violation.

The committee amended and advanced LB428 allowing cities and villages to increase the fire department tax from one-half mill to one mill.

Girls Are Miss Behavin' In Coed Follies '63

It's Feb. 22, it's George Washington's birthday, and it's time for the University of Nebraska's Co-ed Follies, and the show, par usual, promises to be great.

Undoubtedly in recognition of George's cherry tree misdemeanor, the production is titled "Miss Behavin'," and unless we're misinformed, General Washington himself would cross the Delaware again to see the co-eds perform this evening at Pershing Auditorium.

We hear, via the cherry tree, that such distinguished celebrities as Mitch Miller, King Neptune, Christopher Columbus, Calamity Mame, and Chester will be appearing in tonight's skits. Spectators will also get a look at orange and chartreuse men from Mars, the Bosa Nova, and a group of limberlegged little ladies in the traveler acts.

Billings in this year's Co-ed Follies go to the Chi Omega's with their skit, "Staring Stereo;" the Alpha Phi's and "Seaweed Salvation"; the Delta Gamma's and "The Joker is Wild;" Gamma Phi Beta and "Pirate's Parody;" and Pi Beta Ph iwith "Faith, Hope, and Chestity."

Traveler Acts include the "Turtle Walk" by Kappa Alpha Theta dancers Gayle Fiala and Ann Lemon; an "Invasion From Mars" by Gamma Phi Beta; the "Ritual Fire Dance" by Alpha Delta Pi's Mary Lee Jepson; "Misbehavin' to Nagilah" by Delta Gamma dancers Jeanne Thorough, Terri Rupe, Mary Quinn, and Linda Reed; "Ma, He's Making Eyes at Me" by the Kappa Alpha Theta "Baby-Legs;" and folk singing by Kathy Gates.

The show's performers above are left to right, the Gamma Phi Beta's with their captain of "Pirate's Parody," the Kappa Alpha Theta's who seem to be able to "make eyes" themselves, and the Alpha Phi's striving for "Seaweed Salvation."

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

PARK MANOR

Down through history, it has become a tradition in our country to faithfully remember two important dates in the lives of those close to us. Those, of course, are birthdays and anniversaries. Not wanting to transcend any fond traditions, therefore, it seems only fitting and entirely proper to take time out this morning to acknowledge the birth date of the Father of Our Country, George Washington, and to wish a belated "Happy Anniversary" to the "Father of Outer Space," John Glenn.

These two have been honored at celebrations across the country during the past few days, and the festivities have ranged in appearance from grade school tableaux and skits to department store sales.

Even Suburbia's residents seem to have taken on this spirit of celebration, for everyone has been just as busy as can be this week.

Equipping themselves with hatchets and knapsacks this afternoon, but we hope not planning to chop down any cherry trees, will be Park Manor's Boy Scout group, Troop 8, which will be heading for the "big country" again for another campout at the Boy Scout camp southwest of Lincoln.

The young frontiersmen, who make their headquarters at Vine Congregational Church in Park Manor, will leave this afternoon for what promises to be a chilly overnight, and return tomorrow afternoon. Scoutmaster Donald E. Nelson will be keeping a watchful eye on his charges.

And we don't know if Mrs. Donald Overton will be serving cherry pie, but we do know that she is to entertain neighbors at a dessert and coffee at her Park Manor home this morning. The courtesy is to honor a soon-to-be-neighbor, Mrs. Tom Brusnahan.

Greeting their new neighbor will be Mrs. Wally Cameron, Mrs. Reuben Haun, Mrs. D. V. Owens, Mrs. Lee Hendry, Mrs. Kenneth Alles, Mrs. Paul Portsche, Mrs. Bernard Gradwohl, Mrs. Gates Minnick, Mrs. Norman Leuthauser, and Mrs. Don Trumble.

Another neighborhood coffee was hosted Wednesday morning by Mrs. Robert Glenn who entertained the members of her monthly "coffee club."

This time coffee, dessert, and chitchat were on tap for the guests, who included Mrs. Andy Andros, Mrs. John Binning, Mrs. Robert Marquardt, Mrs. Emery Nelson, Mrs. C. F. Kirk, Mrs. Robert Wohlers, Mrs. Kenneth Popp, and Mrs. Boyd McDougall.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

This Saturday will be filled with excitement for the members of Cub Scout Pack 58 when the boys and their parents will attend the annual Blue and Gold Banquet at Pershing School.

Approximately 250 people will attend the potluck dinner which will be prepared by the Cub's mothers

Van Tyler heads Pack 58. The seven Den mothers include Mrs. Hugh Williams, Mrs. Robert Cardwell, Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. Jim Kopetka, Mrs. Jack Blunk, and Mrs. Ted Marshall.

Highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the charter by E. O. Brezina. The cubs also will receive their special awards at this time.

CHATTER — in the — CORRIDOR

BY SANDIE LAW

I wonder how many cherry trees have been planted during the years so that everyone could have cherry pie today to celebrate George Washington's birthday.

Class officers were chosen the other day for second semester. Chosen for the senior class were, Steve Hamilton, Linda Webster, Ray Nielson, and Steve Lawson to the offices of president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer respectively. Junior officers are Chuck Turek, president; Peggy Blue, vice-president; Barbara Strain, secretary; and Jack Handa, treasurer. Elected for the sophomore class were President Doug Craft, Vice-president Jane Handa, Secretary Gary Thompson, and Treasurer Bob Scott. Congratulations!

This Sunday is the day that the Lincoln Northeast Choir and Concert Band will present their Vespers. The program starts at 3 o'clock and there is no admission fee. As a member of Choir, I'd like to extend a warm invitation to attend our program.

Last Friday our basketball team brought home a 52-49 win over Beatrice. High point men were Jerry Motz with 15 and Tom Ochsner with 13. Saturday night at the PSAB, we defeated Fremont 55-44. High point men were Jerry Motz and Stan Grell with 26 and 16. They meet the Fairbury Jeffs at the Lincoln Northeast gym on Friday. Hope to see many of you readers there at 6:15 for the reserve game and at 8 o'clock for the varsity. On Saturday the team travels to Columbus, to play the third place team in the top ten. Let's really show them that we ARE the almighty Rockets!

Following the team to Columbus will be several bus loads of pep club girls. On the agenda for that night are: catching the bus, sack lunches (one for going up and one for coming home), a lot of fun, and a lot of pep.

Our swim team tied with Omaha Benson for sixth place in the State swim meet at the PSAB pool last weekend. That was the last swim meet for the year. You did a fine job this year.

Wednesday night our gymnastics team went to Lincoln Southeast. The Rockets were defeated by Lincoln Southeast by a score of 68 to 60.

This promises to be a busy weekend for amateur thespians and footlight fans, and predictions are that the Lincoln Communisty Playhouse will be filled with both actors and audience on Sunday when the Children's Theater group will present two productions, "The Little Man Who Wasn't There," and "The Crying Princess and The Golden Goose."

The Children's Theater, which is sponsored by the Playhouse, has been rehearsing for weeks under the direction of Mrs. William Hall for the Sunday performance, which will be presented at 4 o'clock and at 7 o'clock.

Polishing their performance for "The Golden Goose," are (from the left) Genece Filbert, Paula Mastin, Christina Olson, Bobby Goodman, Dede and Penny Andros.

Why Grow Old?

Care Of The Veins

Josephine Lowman

If you have varicose veins, the first thing to do is to see your doctor and then follow his advice. He may advise elastic stockings. If so, your foot and leg will be measured every two inches. He may suggest injections or even surgery. Most varicose veins can be controlled if treatment is begun soon enough.

If you don't have varicose veins, here are some everyday precautions and first aid you can use to prevent them:

Remember that standing or sitting for long periods of time places a great strain on the veins. Standing is the worse of the two. Therefore, physicians recommend the following:

Whenever you are going to be sitting for a long time, get up every half-hour and walk about. Do this at home or when on a plane or train. If you are on a long auto trip, stop periodically and walk around and stretch your legs.

Break long stretches of standing with short rest periods when you sit or lie with your feet up.

Exercise is helpful since it stirs up circulation. Many doctors feel that the bicycle riding exercise is an especially beneficial one. For this you lie on your back. Raise your legs and rotate them as though you were riding a bicycle. Walking is also good because the movement involved gives the blood a boost upward.

Swimming or walking in deep water are two of the best antidotes for varicosity. (The pressure of the water helps.)

Sleep with your feet higher than the level of your heart. Before doing this consult your doctor. If your arteries are not in good condition this may not be wise.

FOR WOMEN ONLY.

Do not wear round garters. When working in the kitchen, sit on a high stool with your feet resting on a rung, whenever possible. Do not wear elastic girdles continuously. This is especially bad when you are going to be seated for a long time.

Don't cross your legs at the knee. If your family has a tendency toward varicose veins, tell your doctor about it if you become pregnant.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Superfluous Hair and Varicose Veins," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 53 to Josephine Lowman in care of the Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Dear Abby

Give The Old Souvenirs A Private Burial

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Why do people hang on to letters and pictures of a dead romance? I had a friend who was recently killed in an accident. When her employer came to her wake he brought a box of her personal things that had been locked in her file at work. He gave them to her husband. When the husband opened the box, he found letters and pictures from a fellow he had suspected his wife was in love with during the early years of their marriage. I knew about this affair and knew it had been over for years. The husband didn't know this. He went to pieces and did not attend her funeral. He was located months later, a broken man, in Skid Row. Even in death it's the innocent ones who are hurt the most. Write something about this in your column, Abby. It could spare others that kind of misery.

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: You expressed it very well. Let this be a warning to all who have such souvenirs locked in files, vaults and drawers. Dig them out—for the sake of the living who love you—and give them a private burial.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My father died a few months ago leaving my mother alone. In order to supplement her income she decided to rent her downstairs. She asked me to help fix it up, so I agreed. My wife screamed bloody murder. She said I never painted or repaired our house and had no business doing it for my mother. She said, "Let the old bag rot up there!" Abby, my wife's attitude has torn me to shreds inside. I am the only son and my mother could not afford a professional decorator. Was I wrong in helping my mother? What's wrong with my wife?

HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: You were NOT wrong to have helped your mother and I think your wife is headsick.

* * *

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby; Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Bridge

Choosing Opening Bid

B. Jay Becker

QUIZ

You are the dealer, both sides vulnerable. What would you bid with each of the following hands?

1. ♠A2 ♥QJ753 ♦AKQJ4 ♣8
2. ♠K74 ♥K8 ♦AQ6 ♣KJ952
3. ♠KQ5 ♥AJ4 ♦AJ93 ♣KJ6
4. ♠98532 ♥AKQ6 ♦AJ4 ♣7
5. ♠Q853 ♥J962 ♦AJ ♣AQ8

1. One heart. This simply follows the general rule of first bidding the higher ranking of two touching suits of equal length. Of course, from the standpoint of quality, the diamonds are better than the hearts, but this does not justify varying from the usual procedure. Naming the diamonds first and then the hearts would give partner the impression that the hearts were only four cards in length, and this could easily lead to the wrong contract.

2. One notrump. It is far better to open with a notrump than a club. The notrump opening shows 16 to 18 points, balanced distribution, and strength in all suits, which is exactly what we have. An opening club bid could be based on a much wider range of high cards and all types of distribution, and hence is much less precise.

Furthermore, if the club opening drew a response from partner of a diamond, a heart or a spade, it would become impossible to make an accurate rebid. A jump to two notrump would constitute an overbid, while a rebid of one notrump would constitute an underbid. Such rebid problems can be avoided by opening with a notrump.

3. One diamond. Despite the pronounced notrump features, the proper bid is a diamond. An opening bid of one notrump would show 16 to 18 points; a two notrump opening would show 22 to 24 points. With 19 points, we do not fit either category. Hands in the intermediate zone are opened with one of a suit. The big bid comes later.

4. One spade. Despite their poor quality, the spades are bid ahead of the hearts. Length takes precedence over strength. The logic behind this becomes apparent if partner is assumed to have an equal number of spades and hearts. Suppose for example, partner has three spades and three hearts. In that case, spades is better trump suit, since we would have eight trumps instead of seven. Any five-card suit is biddable.

5. One club. Any hand containing 14 high-card points must be opened, even though the suit named is not, strictly speaking, biddable. Since we can't pass and also lack the high-card requirements for a notrump bid, we open with one of a suit. The texture of the spades and hearts is too poor to warrant naming either of them, so we bid clubs, even though there are only three of them. This is not particularly desirable, but it is the least of evils.

Four different ways to make going more fun than getting there

You can see why one of America's favorite outdoor sports is driving Chevrolets, with four entirely different kinds of cars like these to choose from. There's the Jet-smooth Chevrolet, about as luxurious as you can go without going overboard in price (has lots of new lower upkeep features, too, like a flush-and-dry rocker panel ventilating system that helps remove rust-causing salt and slush); the new low-cost Chevy II, a good-looking, fun-loving car that would send any family packing; another perennial family favorite, the sporty Corvair, whose rear-engine traction will make you think that ice and snow are strictly kid stuff; and for pure driving adventure, America's only homegrown sports car, Corvette—now in two all-new versions with looks that can stop traffic like a rush-hour blizzard. If driving any one of them at your Chevrolet dealer's doesn't have you thinking of places to go, you'd probably rather spend what's left of winter just having yourself a ball around town!

Enjoy Pearadise Now

It's a happy morning when the spicy aroma of fresh, hot pear coffee cake beckons to early birds and breakfast skippers alike. This delightful batter coffee cake brings even the johnny-come-latelys to the table on time, for it features canned pears in a cinnamon crispy topping. The easy beaten batter is rich with all the flavor so characteristic of a yeast bread.

PEARADISE COFFEE CAKE

1 can (1 pound) pear halves
1½ cup milk
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
1 package yeast, active dry or compressed
¼ cup warm water
1 egg, well beaten
1½ cups sifted flour

TOPPING

2 tablespoons brown sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 tablespoon butter

Drain pears, reserving syrup. Scald milk. Stir in sugar, salt and 2 tablespoons butter. Dissolve yeast in water. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture. Add egg and flour. Beat with electric mixer on high speed or by hand until smooth. Spread dough evenly in greased 8-inch square pan. Slice pear halves thin and arrange over top of batter. Sprinkle with mixture of brown sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg. Dot with butter. Cover and let rise in warm place, away from draft, until double in bulk or about 40 minutes. Bake in 400 degree oven for 10 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees and continue to bake 20 to 25 minutes. While coffee cake is still warm, drizzle with a thin glaze made of powdered sugar and reserved pear juice.

The Sole Takes On Fancy Dress

Every once in a while we come upon a recipe especially prepared for Lenten menus which we are quick to recommend also for any night in the year—fast day or not.

This time it's really delectable fish turbans with shrimp sauce, made from a recipe that's so good it would make a chef proud. They are easy to prepare, but no one who tastes them would believe it. Everyone will think you spent hours in the kitchen.

TURBANS OF SOLE

1 pkg. bread stuffing mix
½ cup wheat germ
¼ teaspoon rosemary
¼ teaspoon savory
1 small onion, minced
6 to 8 fish fillets
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Make a moist stuffing, following package directions. Stir in wheat germ, herbs and onion; spread on fillets; roll up. Grease 6 to 8 large muffin cups; coat with additional wheat germ. Place 1 turban in each cup; sprinkle with additional wheat germ; dot with butter or margarine. Bake in hot oven, 400°, 20 to 25 minutes or until fish flakes easily with a fork. Serve with Shrimp Sauce. Makes 6 to 8 turbans.

CREAMY SHRIMP SAUCE

1 cup dairy sour cream
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon minced onion
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 teaspoon sugar
1 cup diced cooked or canned shrimps
1 tablespoon capers
1 tablespoon sliced scallions

Combine all ingredients except scallions. Spoon into serving dish; scatter scallions on top. Makes about 2 cups.

Secret Of Suzettes

We have had requests for a Crepe Suzette recipe—Here is one that is good, but not too difficult. The main secret is chilling the batter—Here is what you do:

CREPES SUZETTES

2 cups unsifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2½ cups milk
2 eggs
¼ cup of cooking oil
¼ cup light corn syrup
Apricot sauce
1 tablespoon orange extract

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Combine milk, eggs, cooking oil and corn syrup in mixing bowl. Beat with rotary beater until blended. Add dry ingredients and beat until batter is smooth. Refrigerate several hours or overnight, if possible. Bake batter on ungreased hot griddle, using about 2 tablespoons for each pancake. Fold each in half, then in half again while still hot. Set aside. When ready to serve heat apricot sauce in chafing dish or electric skillet. Add folded pancakes; heat, turning once. Reduce heat. Sprinkle sauce with orange extract. Ignite and serve when flaming stops. Makes 6 servings, about 30 pancakes.

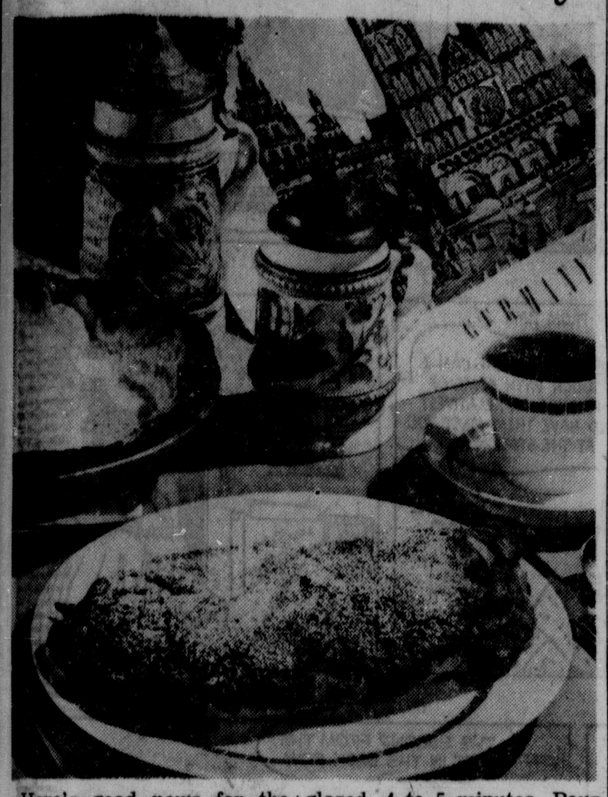
APRICOT SAUCE

1¾ cups light corn syrup
1 cup apricot jam
¼ cup butter or margarine

Combine corn syrup, apricot jam and the butter or margarine. Place over medium heat and stir occasionally until margarine melts and ingredients are blended.

Note: Pancakes may be prepared ahead of time, folded, wrapped and stored in refrigerator or freezer. Sauce may be prepared and stored in covered container in refrigerator. Reheat sauce before adding pancakes. (Do not add extract until ready to serve.)

For Shrove Tuesday



Here's good news for the homemaker who must prepare meatless meals during the Lenten season.

The "good news" is a wheat germ German apple pancake, a Continental favorite, that is featured on dinner menus in leading German restaurants both here and abroad. It is real good eating, delicious and substantial. The apples and lemon juice add a mouth-watering tang which gives an "apple pie-like" taste-appeal to the light, fluffy pancake.

GERMAN APPLE PANCAKES

3 eggs, slightly beaten
¾ cup milk
½ cup sifted flour
¼ cup wheat germ
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cups thinly sliced apples (2 medium apples)
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Confectioners' sugar or brown sugar

Combine eggs, milk, flour, wheat germ, salt and 2 tablespoons sugar; beat until smooth. Melt butter or margarine in 10-inch skillet with oven-proof or removable handle. Add apples, lemon juice and remaining sugar. Cook, stirring until apples are glazed, 4 to 5 minutes. Pour wheat germ batter over apples. Place in hot oven (425 F.) until brown and puffed, about 15 minutes. Turn out on serving plate. Sprinkle with confectioners' or brown sugar. Yield: 1 large (10-inch) pancake; 2 servings.

The pancake can be folded (as shown in foreground of picture) or it can be served pie-shaped as it comes from skillet. German restaurants usually serve it the latter way.

Likeable Crab

You have often heard it said that a meal that looks good is most likely a meal that tastes good. But, have you heard this one? A meal that sounds good tastes good. That's what we say about the supper we present today. Here is the menu. Imperial Crab, Tomatoes Provencal, Caesar Salad and for dessert, Crepes Suzettes. Sound good?

Here is how we do the Imperial Crab:

IMPERIAL CRAB

1 pound crab meat
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ cup real mayonnaise
1 tablespoon capers
Mayonnaise
Paprika

Pick over crab meat, leaving in as large pieces as possible. Blend mustard, salt and Worcestershire sauce; stir in mayonnaise and capers. Gently fold mixture into crab meat. Spoon onto scallop shells or into small shallow casserole. Spread with light coating of mayonnaise. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake in 375 F. (moderate) oven until top is golden brown, about 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

A Favorite

That American favorite, "Apple Betty," appears in new dress for "Date Apple Betty." The sliced apple is flavorfully joined by sliced fresh dates in this 1963 version of the popular pudding. Meaty fresh dates provide unique texture and exotic flavor in countless desserts, salads, sandwich spreads and sauces for meat.

DATE APPLE BETTY

1 cup fresh dates
2 cups soft day-old bread crumbs
4 cups sliced apple
½ cup honey
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon allspice
¼ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon salt

Slice dates into greased 1½-quart baking dish. Arrange bread crumbs and apple in layers over dates. Stir remaining ingredients together and drizzle over top. Cover and bake in 350-degree (moderate) oven 40 minutes. Remove cover and bake 10 to 15 minutes longer or until apples are tender and top is browned. Serve warm with cream, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

The nation's private forest owners plant more than a billion trees a year.

About one-fourth of the money spent in the United States for food, or about $18 billion a year, goes for meals and snacks bought and eaten away from home.

☆ ☆ ☆

More Americans are bitten every year by copperhead snakes than by any other poisonous reptile.

A handful of salt thrown into the coals in your barbecue will lower the flames and lessen the smoke from broiling meat.

The 3 species of camellias in general cultivation in the United States are camellias japonica, camellia sasanqua, and camellia reticulata.

Here's How To Work It

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example, A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical attic game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. NWU GRABS TOURNEY BID

POINT BLANK

Jerry's Decision

Sports writers are supposed to be cold-hearted chaps who relish heaping ridicule on losing coaches — but it ain't really so.

Most of the scribes I know don't enjoy human suffering, and there's an awful lot of suffering associated with being a losing coach.

Certainly none of the scribbling fraternity ever slapped their knees over the tribulations of Nebraska's Jerry Bush. We relished his hilarious stories, but we all pulled for him to win.

The reason was simple: Jerry Bush is a nice guy. Like other Big 8 scribes, I count Jerry as a fine friend and join in wishing him the very best after he departs the NU scene.

Few people have the ability to win friends like Jerry. It's a tribute to his bubbling, enthusiastic personality that he was able to resign without enduring the idiotic cruelties that usually are heaped upon losing coaches — no effigies, no dirty words, no insults.

In view of his record and prospects for the future, Jerry had little choice except to resign. But he didn't deserve maligning and I am happy Nebraskans permitted him to make his decision — a tough job, at best — without a lot of unwarranted indignities.

Always Respected

The Jerry Bush era is filled with irony. He came to Nebraska as a winning coach and he quickly captured the hearts of Husker cage fans. Big 8 coaches always have and still do fear his teams.

Henry Iba of Oklahoma State recently said he'd rather play any other team in the league except Nebraska because of Jerry. Glen Anderson of Iowa State recently told me he zoned the Huskers because he feared Jerry's style of play.

Yet Bush's Cornhuskers never could quite muster a winning season, although they came close.

Probably no coach in the country has had worse luck with big men, players who figured to help the Huskers and for various reasons never lived up to expectations.

Probably no coach in the country loves the game of basketball with so much dedication and enthusiasm.

Hates Defeat

I'm sure no coach in the country wants to win more intensely than Jerry — and few take defeat so deeply and personally. Defeat is humiliating to Jerry and he has fought hard against it.

There's little question but what lack of recruiting kept Jerry under the gun. Not the lack of effort, but the failure to land the prize prospects who could transform Nebraska into a powerhouse.

Yet only one Nebraskan — Omaha's Bob Boozer who went to Kansas State — can be listed as a blue-chipper who eluded Bush.

I'm sure Jerry's recruiting philosophy has been influenced by the bitter, heart-breaking shock he endured at Toledo — learning via a night phone call from the New York district attorney that some of his players were involved in the first big cage scandal.

No Compromise

During his tenure at Nebraska he hesitated to pursue an out-of-state prospect if he wasn't convinced the boy's character was solid. In short, he hated the thought of taking a chance on recruiting a bum just for the sake of winning.

Jerry's desk is full of letters from former players who have written to thank him for helping them, giving them a chance and helping them establish solid goals in life.

Add it all up and you come to one undisputable conclusion: Jerry Bush is neither a failure as a basketball coach nor as a person. His lifetime coaching record is 210-186 — but more important, there are an awful lot of people like myself who are proud and happy to have become acquainted with Jerry Bush and his wonderful family.

In my book, that spells winner in any league.

FORMER FOX CITIAN BIDS FOR CHISOX JOB

Pete Ward, who appeared at Lincoln's Sherman Field as a member of the Fox Cities team in the old Three-I League, is bidding for a job with the Chicago White Sox this spring. Ward, who was acquired during the winter in a trade with the Baltimore Orioles, works out at 3rd base at the White Sox' first spring drill Thursday in Sarasota, Fla. Infield coach Tony Cuccinello works with Ward who will get chance to be the Chisox regular 3rd baseman this year.

Playing Site Not Selected

. . . REPEAT FOR PLAINSMEN

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska Wesleyan was invited Thursday afternoon to participate for the second straight year in the NCAA college division regional basketball tournament.

The Plainsmen, with a 21-3 season record, will play in the Midwest-Great Lakes area, but the site has not yet been set.

NWU athletic director Woody Greeno said the bid came Thursday afternoon and "we accepted immediately." If the Plainsmen are placed in the Midwest regional, they would play at Brookings, S.D.

But the site for the Great Lakes regional has not been named. The regional tourney is set for March 8-9 with the finals at Evansville, Ind., March 14-16.

Regional Winner

Wesleyan played host to the Midwest regional last year, winning it and a trip to the finals where they finished 4th.

The Plainsmen were knocked out of the championship bracket a year ago, 74-73, in two overtimes by Sacramento, Calif., State.

Coach Peterson's charges opened the national tournament at Evansville with a 71-61 overtime victory against Southeast Missouri State and then after the overtime loss to Sacramento, the Plainsmen dropped a 98-81 decision in the battle for 3rd place with Southern Illinois.

The Plainsmen, who have topped the 100-point mark 7 times this season, finish the regular campaign Saturday night against Dana at the Wesleyan gym.

Wesleyan joins Evansville of Indiana, Bellarmine of Kentucky, Northeastern University of Boston, Philadelphia Textile, Lamar Tech of Texas and Oglethorpe of Georgia as at-large entries already named by the selection committee for the 32-team field.

Two other teams — South Dakota State and South Carolina State—are among 11 teams who will qualify automatically for the national tournament by winning their conference crowns.

South Dakota State has a 15-4 record and won the North Central Conference title. South Carolina State is 18-6 and is the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference winner.

Fourteen other teams will be named as at-large entries—chosen either for their outstanding records or after inter-conference playoffs.

Among the at-large entries named so far, Evansville is among the top teams. They are a two-time national champion in the NCAA small college division and won the Indiana Collegiate Conference title this year.

Evansville is currently riding a 16-game winning streak. Ballarmine, with a 17-5 record, is the Kentucky Intercollegiate Conference champion. Lamar Tech has a 19-4 mark and Oglethorpe is 15-5.

The winners of the 8 regionals on March 8-9 will advance to the finals at Evansville.

—NCC, TRI-STATE RACES ARE TWO-TEAM AFFAIRS—

Cage Titles Still Undecided

By DON SUMMERSIDE
Star Sports Writer

State colleges move into the final full week of activity with a pair of conference titles still up in the air.

Two-team races exist in both the Nebraska College and Tri-State conferences. Each issue will be decided within the next week.

Hastings can have much to say about which club wears the NCC laurels. The Broncs host league-leader Wayne tonight, then journey to runner-up Peru Saturday. Wayne also faces a Saturday test at Doane.

Settled At Wayne

If the two frontrunners survive the weekend without a loss, the question will be settled at Wayne Thursday when Peru visits.

A split at Chadron last weekend kept the Bobcats' title repeat chances alive. Coach Jack McIntire's squad can take further hope from the fact that Wayne will be playing road tilts Friday and Saturday.

The Tri-State struggle comes down to the wire Saturday night.

Concordia trails Yankton by a game and both have one loop outing yet to be played. Each contest is a home affair.

Host Dana

The Bulldogs will try to recover from the Wednesday night beating by Wesleyan with a 3rd straight victory over Dana. The two previous games saw Concordia on top by margins of 71-62 and 77-70.

If successful, the Bulldogs must then await the result of Saturday's Yankton-Westmar contest.

Westmar, invincible in loop play on its home floor this season, will try to crack the road jinx at Yankton. The Eagles have recorded all 5 conference defeats on foreign maples. Yankton, on the other hand, has not dropped a Tri-State decision at home.

In the 4-JC Conference, Scottsbluff sacked up the title with ease on a swing to Fairbury and Norfolk. The Cougars' 6-0 league record far outdistanced the other 3.

One conference game remains. Fairbury will attempt to drag Norfolk into a 4-way tie for the cellar in a contest at Fairbury tonight.

On the independent circuit, Wesleyan hosts Dana Saturday in what will be a tune-up for the NCAA small college regionals. A win will give NWU a 22-3 record for the regular season, as compared to an 18-6 mark last year.

Creighton, headed for the National Catholic College meet, embarks on a rugged road swing to Utah State and Arizona State.

Class A Cage Powers Face Important Weekend Games

. . . CREIGHTON PREP MEETS O. TECH

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer

Class A basketball is on the brink of its most important weekend.

Classy state leaders Creighton Prep and Omaha Tech, rated no less than 1-2 all year long, will collide for the 3rd time Friday. They split earlier games.

Tech also visits 4th-ranked Lincoln High Saturday night after the Lincoln club challenges No. 10 Omaha Central Friday night.

These contests, plus North Platte's (No. 8) visit to McCook (No. 5), put the big 5 under heavy pressure.

Only 3rd-rated Columbus of the top quintet misses heavy fire, drawing Norfolk and Lincoln Northeast for weekend home games Friday and Saturday.

The Tech-Lincoln High contest at the Activities Building Saturday will vie for crowd honors with University High's visit to Pius X, a spirited rivalry.

All Lincoln teams but Southeast play double-headers. The Knights are at 7th-ranked Omaha Westside Friday evening.

Northeast is at the Rocket gym Friday against Fairbury before heading out to Columbus.

Pius seeks a second win over Omaha Cathedral at Cathedral Friday when University High will hold forth at Southeast's gym versus Ralston.

All varsity games involving Lincoln teams begin at 8 p.m.

Class B state leader Omaha Holy Name, the only unbeaten Class A or B team, faces a home challenge from Blair, two-time loser.

The No. 5 Class B club Falls City is at Tecumseh, 6th-ranked in Class C, in another top state game.

McCook needs a victory over North Platte to tie for the West Big 10 title with Scottsbluff. The Bison whipped the Platters at North Platte earlier.

Major games:

Omaha Tech at Creighton Prep—They clash again. Nod to Prep's balance and height.

Southeast at Omaha Westside—Knights won't have enjoyable return home. Westside's Warriors.

Hastings at Grand Island—Strong home showing by Islanders.

Falls City at Tecumseh—Rematch of ranked B and C clubs. Falls City should chalk up second win over slumping Indians.

Lincoln High v. Omaha Tech at PSAB (Sat.)—Ideal time for a big upset . . . except that Links will have hands full at Central Friday and Tech has an awful lot of firepower.

Northeast at Columbus (Sat.)—Rockets will have problems with Columbus' big frontline.

University High at Pius (Sat.)—Fine local contest. Expect Uni High victory.

Bill To Outlaw Boxing Introduced In Illinois

Springfield, Ill. (AP) — Declaring that boxing has become a "seamy sport" linked with hoodlums, two legislators introduced a bill to outlaw professional prize fighting in Illinois.

"It makes no sense for Illinois to spend money on mental health while at the same time we legalize and encourage one man to injure another man's brains," said Sen. Paul Simon, D-Troy, and Rep. Anthony Scariano, D-Park Forest, in offering their bill.

Bolivia Plans To Skip Pan-American Games

La Paz, Bolivia (AP)—Bolivia will not participate in the Pan-American games in Brazil next April, the National Sports Committee announced Thursday.

The committee president, Roberto Stazeski, said that economic and technical factors had forced the decision.

Daytona 500 Spots At Stake In Races

. . . BIG RACE SET SUNDAY

Daytona Beach, Fla. (AP) — Choice spots in Sunday's Daytona 500 will be up for grabs Friday in twin 100 mile races that will determine the bulk of a starting field of 50 late model cars.

Winners of the two races, each of which will carry a purse of $5,400, will get the No. 2 and 3 spots behind pole winners Glenn (Fireball) Roberts and Freddie Lorenzen who hailed down the front row in preliminary events last week.

Roberts, who pocketed nearly $60,000 last year, will drive a 1963 Pontiac. Lorenzen, of Elmhurst, Ill., will drive a 1963 Ford. Their pole spots in the 500 will not be affected regardless of how they finish Friday.

Twenty-eight positions, two abreast, behind Roberts and Lorenzen will be settled, in each of the 100 mile events.

Fastest Lap

In the first 100 with Roberts will be Robert (Junior) Johnson, the 220-pound chicken rancher from Ronda, N.C. Johnson turned a practice lap over the 2.5 mile speedway Thursday at 168.602 miles per hour, the fastest official lap ever recorded here.

It was a measure of vindication for the 30-year-old speed merchant who drives a 1963 Chevrolet. Only last week he had qualified for Friday's 100 at 163.681 to set a new record for closed course tracks.

Two days later that record was shattered by John Rutherford, a 24-year-old rookie from Ft. Worth, Tex., whose 165.181 earned him a spot in the second 100 miler with Lorenzen.

After Rutherford's dazzler, Johnson promptly took his car back on the track and was clocked at 166.081. Rutherford, also a Chevy pilot, previously had been clocked in practice at 166.112.

Yale Grad Wants To Keep In Step With Classmates

St. Petersburg, Fla. (UPI) —Pitcher Ken MacKenzie of the New York Mets has a lament that would soften the heart of the sternest editor in the history of the Harvard Lampoon.

MacKenzie, who had a 5-4 record for the Mets last season, is holding out for higher wages this year.

"I've got it figured out," he said, "that I'm the lowest paid member of the Yale class of 1956."

Finnish Vaulter Has Hopes Of Reaching 17-Foot Mark

New York (AP) — Pentti Nikula, the pale, frail-looking Finnish bank clerk who has pole-vaulted higher than any other human, believes he has a good chance of reaching the 17-foot mark during his American indoor campaign in the next 3 weeks.

"It may happen Saturday night, or it may come later at Cleveland or Chicago," the king of the fiber glass astronauts said through an interpreter Thursday at his midtown hotel. "I am in perfect shape. If all the little things come together at the right time, I am sure I can do it."

Nikula makes his season's American debut Saturday night in the National AAU Championships at Madison Square Garden, meeting such other 16-foot vaulters as Ron Morris, Dave Tork and Rolando Cruz. If he misses there, he gets fresh chances in the Knights of Columbus meet at Cleveland March 2 and the Daily News Relays at Chicago March 8.

Farmer's Son

The 24-year-old farmer's son soared 16 feet 8¾ inches — more than 5 inches higher than any man had vaulted before — in an obscure meet 3 weeks ago in Pajulahti, Finland, a small town some 130 miles to the south of Helsinki.

"It cannot be submitted as a world record," Nikula explained. "It was done in an armory on a wooden runway about 4 feet wide. There were less than 1,000 people there. A blizzard raged outside. It was near freezing inside.

"But that vault convinced me that I can get to 17 feet, and my ambition is to do it both here in America, where interest is so high, and then outdoors, where it can be counted as a record."

The Finnish pole vaulting ace looks like anything but an athlete. He is blond, with a sensitive face and a fragile-looking physique of 5 feet, 9 inches and 155 pounds.

No Acrobat

"Don Bragg, in criticizing the fiber glass pole, says we are acrobats, and not athletes," Nikula said. "You can look at me and tell I am no acrobat. I have never been an acrobat.

"I disagree that the fiber glass pole should be permitted to detract from the pole vault performances. Runners are running on better tracks and in better shoes. Nothing is said about golfers using improved sticks and balls or tennis players having tighter gut in their rackets.

"The pole vault is the same way. It's progress. The men who reach 16 feet and better still must work as hard and give their very best performance."

Nikula was asked if he ever felt a twinge of fear as he soared over the bar at such astronomical heights — if there ever was any thought that the pole might break and impale the vaulter.

"Fear never enters my mind," Pentti said. "Poles, even the steel poles, have broken before. As for heights, I am a Finn. I have jumped with skis all my life. You risk your neck much more in ski-jumping than in pole-vaulting."

XAVIER WILL FILL CATHOLIC TOURNEY SPOT

Cincinnati (AP) — Xavier of Ohio accepted an invitation Thursday to take part in the National Roman Catholic Basketball Tournament at Louisville, Ky.

Xavier and St. Bonaventure replaced Canisius of Buffalo and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, which withdrew after being invited to other post-season tournaments.

Canisius officials elected to enter the National Invitation Tournament at New York and St. Joseph's is slated for the NIT or the NCAA national eliminations depending on the showing against LaSalle Saturday.

The rest of the field at the Louisville tournament will be Creighton of Omaha and Regis of Denver.

Husker Freshman Cagers Seek 1st Big 8 Triumph

Nebraska's freshman basketball team will be seeking its first Big 8 Conference win against a rugged foe when it tangles with the Kansas frosh cagers at 5:45 p.m. Saturday in the NU Coliseum.

The game will precede the Varsity Husker-Jayhawk battle set for 8:05 p.m.

Coach Bob Gates' Husker yearlings have lost their only two loop outings—both on the road—to Iowa State and Kansas State. Kansas, meanwhile, has beaten the identical two opponents, the last Jayhawk frosh victory being a 86-69 lashing of Kansas State's freshman at Manhattan.

Gates indicated he would go with either of his two big 6-5 frontliners—Coley Webb or Freeman White—at center with the other manning a forward position. The other forward spot will be handled by either 6-5 Henry Granger of Meridian, Miss., or 6-6 Woody Dismuke of Bellevue. Ron Poggemeyer, 5-10 sharpshooter from Nebraska City, and 6-3 Jerry Webb of Gering will open at the guard positions.

Ski Competition Set For Crescent

Omaha (UPI) — Nebraska and Iowa skiers will compete on the Crescent, Iowa, run Sunday, barring unseasonally warm weather.

The meeting includes a downhill race for men, advanced men's slalom; and races for teen-agers and under.

Margaret Prawl, speaking for the Omaha Ski Club, said an unofficial obstacle race will follow the competition. Skiers with torches will ski the course at dusk.

IAAF Official Seeks Fiber Glass Pole Ban

Belgrade (AP) — Artur Takac, secretary general of the European committee of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, said Thursday that the fiber glass pole should be banned.

In an interview to the newspaper Borba he said that exhibitions with fiber glass are not in accord with the basic principles of athletic sport.

He added that the polemics on the fiber glass pole were identical with the dispute over the catapult high jump shoes and special javelins.

"In both cases the sportsmanship principle prevailed. The international federation decided on the size of javelin and thickness of shoes for high jump. I do not see why that principle could not be applied on the fiber glass pole," he said.

He stressed that this was his private opinion which is identical with appraisal of many experts and officials.

He added that the fiber glass pole question will be discussed at the next meeting of the International Athletic Federation and expressed opinion that before the Olympic Games in Tokyo the use of that pole should be banned.

He also said that the technical commission of the federation must work out a proposal for a settlement of this problem soon because the existing situation confuses and harms preparations of athletes for the coming Olympics.

Russian Skater Takes Two Titles

Karuizawa, Japan (AP)—Russia's Lidija Skoblikova, a double winner in the 1960 Olympics, swept both the 500-meter and 1,500 meter women's titles Thursday in the opening of the World Speed Skating Championships.

The 24-year-old, blue-eyed blonde paced the heavily favored Soviet squad to 1-2 placings in the 500 and a 1-2-3 bag of the medals in the 1,500. At Squaw Valley, Calif., in 1960, the golden girl from the Urals captured the 1,500 and 3,000 meter gold medals.

Miss Skoblikova broke meet records in winning the 500 in 45.4 seconds and the 1,500 in 2 minutes, 23.3 seconds.

Jeanne Ashworth, the 1960 Olympian from Wilmington, Mass. topped the American contingent with a 6th place in the 500, a 12th in the 1,500 and 9th place in the overall standings. The 24-year-old former schoolmarm was clocked in :47.0 and 2:30.9 and had 97.300 points. Miss Skoblikova had the leading low total of 93.167.

Alston Feels Youngsters Learned Lot Last Season

. . . FINDS GRATIFYING ASPECTS TO CAMPAIGN

(Los Angeles Dodgers. Last in a series of 1963 team prospects written under the managers' own bylines).

By WALTER ALSTON

Darrtown, Ohio (AP)—I'm not going to attempt to hide the fact that the Dodgers were mighty disappointed with the way the 1962 baseball season ended. But there were some mighty gratifying aspects to the campaign even though we lost out to the Giants in the playoff.

We played a young team all the way and we've got every right to believe that all of the kids gained a lot during the season.

In his 3rd season in the majors, Tommy Davis was the best hitter in the game with a .346 average, 230 hits and a club record of 153 runs batted in. Frank Howard didn't win regular status until mid-June and he wound up with a .296 average, 119 runs batted in and 31 homers.

Just A Beginner

Both Ron Fairly and Willie Davis were .300 hitters most of the season and Willie stole 32 bases in a year when he was just beginning to learn how to run the bases.

Don Drysdale came into his own, won 25 games and took the Cy Young Award as the majors' outstanding pitcher. Sandy Koufax might have won as many if it hadn't been for the blood circulation ailment which sidelined him in July.

And then, of course, there was Maury Wills, the most valuable player in the league with his amazing collection of 104 steals.

We made a couple of deals which should help us. Adding Bill Skowron at first base gives me a chance to move Fairly back to the outfield. Ron has a great arm and we'll now have 3 fine arms out there — Fairly, Howard and Willie Davis.

We're going to start Tommy Davis at 3rd base and I have a hunch he'll be an outstanding 3rd baseman.

I'm hoping we'll get a little more punch at second base than either Larry Burright or Junior Gilliam produced. Everyone who has seen Nate (Pee Wee) Oliver play there says he's ready. He hit .317 at Spokane and had a good winter season in Puerto Rico.

If our infield of Skowron, Oliver, Wills and Tommy Davis is good enough to make a utility player out of Gilliam, I know we're going to be improved.

We gave up Stan Williams in order to get Skowron and this may short us a little on the mound. Much will depend on Koufax. If he comes back we've got a good top 3 with Drysdale and Johnny Podres.

Our No. 4 man could be Bob Miller, whom we got from the New York Mets, Joe Moeller, Phil Ortega or Larry Sherry. Sherry can be spared from the bullpen and given a starting role because we'll have Jack Smith available for relief all year as well as Ron Perranoski and Ed Roebuck.

Catching Sound

Our catching is sound with Johnny Roseboro and Doug Camilli. Mike Brumley, a left-handed hitting youngster, will be battling both for a spot. We've even had Lee Walls, our excellent utility man, working out as a catcher.

Over-all, I'd say we have good speed, offensive strength and defensive ability. The big thing, though, is that we've gained a lot more experience.

Hunting Bill For Rural Families Is Given Approval

Nebraska's Legislature Thursday passed and sent to Gov. Frank Morrison for signature a bill authorizing farmers and ranchers to hunt on their home places without obtaining hunting licenses or upland game bird stamps.

Approval 38-2 was accorded the measure, LB214, introduced by Sens. Frank Nelson of O'Neill, Eric Rasmussen of Fairmont and LeRoy Bahensky of St. Paul. Sens. Albert Kjar of Lexington and Fred O. Gottschalk of Columbus cast the discenting votes.

The free hunting privilege applies to the farmer or rancher, his wife and his children. The privilege is granted only on the farm or ranch occupied by the family and applies to cottontail rabbits, squirrels, grouse, partridges, pheasants, prairie chickens, quail and bullfrogs.

No Relation

The Los Angeles Angels include Lee and George Thomas and Eddie and Bob Sadowski. They are not related.

Syas' Remarks Draw Fire

. . . FROM AG COMMITTEEMAN

Sen. Frank Nelson of O'Neill took strong exception Thursday to critical remarks made Tuesday about the Agriculture Committee by Sen. George Syas of Omaha.

Nelson, chairman of the committee, said "no one senator or two or 3 of them can dominate a committee."

Syas said the agricultural group was contradictory in approving one bill outlawing snagging of fish, except on the Missouri River, and advancing another measure which would permit underwater shooting of fish.

Sportsmen already have the right to shoot fish with bow and arrow.

Nelson's comments were triggered by a Lincoln Journal article which carried Syas' criticisms.

"I think the paper is in error and an apology is in order," Nelson said.

Syas countered: "The article is basically correct as far as it reflected my opinion."

He added he did not single out any committee members by name "and if I had I would have been wrong."

The Omaha lawmaker said he has the "basic right" to express himself on bills which he believes are "contradictory."

Sen. George Fleming of Sidney, a members of Nelson's committee, said Syas had stated he was "going to be divorced from the Agriculture Committee."

Fleming said he told Syas: "That's the best news I've heard yet." On that note the exchange ended. Most of the legislators seemed to find the argument amusing.

232 Completions

George Bork, Little All-America quarterback from Northern Illinois University, completed 232 passes for 2,506 yards last season.

Colorado Takes Big Drop In Dunkel Index Ratings

By DICK DUNKEL

Colorado's loss to Missouri Monday night dropped the Buffs to 33rd place in the Dunkel Index ratings this week while 3 other Big 8 teams climbed ahead of the defending Big 8 champs.

Kansas State tops the Big 8 contingent and rests in 7th place among the nation's cage powers. Iowa State and Oklahoma State are also rated above the Buffs.

Nebraska Wesleyan is not listed among the small college powers this week.

However, the Plainsmen are rated a strong 25-point favorite to close out their regular season with a win over Dana on the NWU court Saturday night.

Lotteries Bill Wins Approval

A bill authorizing certain lotteies in Nebraska won 39-3 approval on final readng in the State Legislature Thursday.

Voting against the bill were Sens. Dale Erlewine of Grant, Maurice A. Kremer of Aurora and T. C. Reeves of Central City.

The measure, LB51, writes into law the lottery privilege made possible by a constitutional amendment approved by Nebraska voters last November.

Sometimes referred to as the "free drawing bill," LB51 authorizes lotteries which do not involve the payment of money for the purchase of property, services, chance or admission tickets, or which do not require the expenditure of substantial effort or time.

It has the effect of permitting Nebraskans to participate in some national contests from which they previously were barred by the state's restrictive lottery laws.

Sens. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, Frank Nelson of O'Neill and William Moulton of Omaha introduced the bill.

Other bills passed on final reading (E-emergency clause)

LB50 (Moultton, Russillo)—Providing that special assessments levied by Omaha shall be a lien on real estate assessed, irrespective of the county in which such real estate is situated. (42-0).

LB42 (Danner)—Reducing from two years to one year the time limit for receipt of a partial payment on distress warrants. (E). (42-0).

LB138 (Judiciary Committee)—Harmonizing provisions of law relating to children born out of wedlock. (42-0).

LB214 (Nelson, E. Rasmussen, Bahensky)—Permitting farmers and ranchers to hunt on their home places without obtaining hunting permits or upland game stamps. (38-2).

Permission To Withdraw Tax Collection Bill Asked

Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud asked legislative permission Thursday to withdraw a bill providing for automatic collection of intangible property taxes by commercial banks in which the money is deposited.

Under legislative rules, action on the request was deferred for at least one day. Approval of such requests normally is routine.

The bill, LB379, would have banks deduct from deposits and pay to the state the taxes on those deposits in the bank belonging to individual depositors.

"Apparently from the contacts that I have had, the Legislature does not want to look into the inequities that now exist in the field of intangibles, and by their remarks they have led me to believe that there is very little chance of this bill getting much consideration," Sen. Bowen told colleagues.

Uniformity

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff said that desirable as the bill might be as a device to make more thorough the collection of intangible property taxes, the measure is unconstitutional on its face, violating "uniformity" requirements in the constitution.

LB379 was one of a series of bills recommended by Dr. Harold McClelland, California educator, who studied Nebraska's tax picture last year for a legislative council tax study committee headed by Sen. Bowen.

The measure, if withdrawn, will be the first of the group of McClelland bills to fall by the wayside.

"It was our hope that by discussing the inequities that exist we could bring before you senators and the citizens of Nebraska the picture that now exists in the field of intangibles," Sen. Bowen said.

Difficult To Assess

"We have recommended that since intangibles are so difficult to assess equitably that we should exempt them or if you legislators do not want to exempt this type of property we should strengthen the laws to collect them in their entirety.

"If we do not want to face up to the problem of proper administration and allow mass evasion, then we should repeal the law."

Bowen said at least $640 million in Nebraska bank deposits go unreported, costing $1.6 million in tax revenue.

"Although intangible Class A (property) includes more than commercial bank deposits, all reported Class A in 1962 was only 56% of total deposits by individuals, partnerships and non-bank corporations," he declared.

CARMICHAEL

Study Group Chairmanship Bill Is Killed

For the second time at the current legislative session, Nebraska lawmakers wielded the axe Thursday on a bill which had survived its committee test to reach the floor.

Killed on a 21-14 vote was Sen. Terry Carpenter's LB67, under which a senator proposing an interim legislative council study automatically would have become chairman of the study committee.

Objectors maintained principally that the policy, if to be adopted, should be written into legislative rules rather than being made a state law.

Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha made the motion to kill.

The only other bill so far to be killed on general file was a measure providing for distrubtion to teachers and others of copies of statutes requiring instruction in Americanism and citizenship.

At present, assignment of study committee chairmanships is made by the 4-member executive board of the Legislative Council.

Normally the senator proposing a between-session study is made chairman of the study committee, but Sen. Don Thompson of McCook reminded colleagues that the policy cannot always be followed.

Identical resolutions may be introduced by more than one senator, Thompson noted. The introducer may not be planning to seek re-election.

Adoption of the law also would raise the possibility that a resolution proposing a study might be defeated merely because legislators objected to its introducer heading the study committee.

At one point, Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha suggested that a would-be study committee chairman be required to sign an affidavit that he intends to seek re-election.

Other bills advanced from general file Thursday:

LB415—Requiring counties to have on file and available for public inspection a current map of county roads.

LB359—Requiring annual specific county reports on mail route mileage and improvements.

LB311—Reducing from 12 to 9% the penalty on delinquent special tax for extension of public utility mains.

AFL-CIO Drive Picks Up Steam

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP)—The AFL-CIO reported Thursday its drive to recruit at least a million more federal employes as union members is picking up steam.

The federations executive council said President Kennedy's year-old order extending formal government recognition to federal employe unions has already "stimulated a healthy growth of membership."

The council threw its support behind proposals of the government unions for a 35-hour work week, pension and insurance improvement, voluntary withholding of union dues from federal worker pay checks, and "elimination of speedup practices now in effect."

Little Progress

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, conceded that labor proposals for legislation to reduce the present 40-hour work week for both federal and private workers have made little progress in Congress. But he added:

"If the economy goes the way I am afraid it will go the next few months I think many people will take a more serious view toward the remedy we have proposed."

Meany said he has no overall data on federal worker union membership growth since the Kennedy order. He said the gain was substantial both among the government's one million white collar employes and the 1½ million blue collar workmen, especially in shipyards.

Pressure

Of the total 2.5 million federal employes, some 800,000 presently belong to AFL-CIO unions. The labor organizations are barred from strikes and must depend on Congress for pay increases, but they are able to exercise considerable political pressure.

In another statement Thursday the council called for quick congressional approval of the administration's youth opportunities act to authorize rural conservation work and urban community service jobs for idle youths.

The statement said the number of young people under 21 in the labor force is growing steadily, with nearly one million unemployed, and many more working only part time, creating "a situation loaded with social dynamite."

Urged

The council urged the Justice Department to join in litigation brought in the federal courts at Detroit by rail labor organizations to block acquisition of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad.

Water Supply Gives Nebraska Fine Future

Nebraska has a "fine future" because of its water supply, some 350 persons attending the 32nd annual conference of the Nebraska Well Drillers Association were told Thursday.

Dr. Eugene C. Reed, director of the Conservation and Survey Division at the University of Nebraska, pointed out that Nebraska has about 186 times as much water in groundwater storage as is replaced in a single year.

"This is a tremendous resource . . . but we need to know more and more about it so that we can manage it for the greatest good," Dr. Reed said.

He emphasized that Nebraska's ground water supply is "like money in the bank to be used when needed."

"The amount of water replaced over a period of time is our average income or return of capital to our bank account.

"If we can learn to manage our groundwater bank account we will leave a significant estate to future generations," he added.

At a noon luncheon meeting at the Air National Guard headquarters, Col. Fred H. Bailey Jr., commander of the 155th Fighter Group, outlined the history of the Air National Guard.

He said that equipment, training standards, and basic training in the Air National Guard are the same as in the regular Air Force.

The pilots must meet the same required criteria as the Air Force, and generally the "Air Force inspects us with the same yardsticks used against the Air Force," Col. Bailey added.

The group also toured the ANG installation and saw a portion of an Air Defense Command exercise.

Friday's activities of the Well Drillers Association will be climaxed by election of officers and a business meeting before the noon adjournment of the two-day meeting.

Filing Of Personal Tax Returns Is Going Slowly

State Tax Commissioner Forrest Johnson reminded Nebraskans Thursday that the March 1 deadline for filing personal tax returns is "fast approaching."

Johnson said he understands from various county assessors over the state that filing of returns is "very slow" thus far this year.

GIRL SCOUTS POOL WILL BE BEGUN IN WEEK

Construction of the swimming pool at Camp Catron, Girl Scout camp near Nebraska City, will begin within a week under a contract signed Thursday with Tulsa Pools, Inc., of Tulsa, Okla.

The 35 by 75 foot pool, to cost about $43,000, will have 7 lanes, a concrete apron, and a brick bath-house. It will be 10 feet deep at the deep end and will hold 100,000 gallons of water.

Campers previously had to be taken to Nebraska City to swim at the public pool there.

Funds for the pool are being raised by the annual Girl Scout cookie sale in the Jay-Husker Council, which has more than 300 troops in southeastern Nebraska and northern Kansas. The sales in 1961 and 1962 netted a total of $14,000, and it is hoped the 1963 sale which closed Feb. 9 will bring another $10,000. The rest of the cost will be paid by future cookie sales.

Reformatory Inmate Dies

An inmate believed suffering from the flu was found dead Thursday morning at the State Reformatory.

He was Lawrence Arandus, 54, of Omaha, who had been serving a one to two year sentence for conviction by a Douglas District Court jury of carrying concealed weapons.

Arandus was confined to bed Wednesday night. He was all right when checked at 5 a.m. Thursday morning, but found dead in bed an hour and a half later.

Lancaster County Atty. Paul Douglas said death was due to natural causes and no autopsy was planned.

Guide Lines For Power Board Set

The Legislature's Public Works Committee Thursday amended LB220 to rewrite the considerations which should guide the proposed state power review board in determining retail public power service area boundaries.

The 3 amended considerations:

—the supplier best able to supply the load required should be favored.

—the most logical future supplier of the area should be favored.

—the desires of the utility with respect to loads and areas it wishes to serve.

Two other considerations contained in the bill were left unchanged, but a sixth relating to zoning areas outside the corporate limits of municipalities was struck from the bill to make way for a new section defining the Legislature's policy in such areas.

A pending amendment to write the policy may be acted upon Friday, when the committee meets again in executive session at 1 p.m.

Two major unresolved issues in the bill are determination of policy concerning Lincoln's unique competitive retail power situation and whether the board will have advisory authority in rate disputes.

Both questions will be considered Friday as the committee enters its fifth hour of closed discussion on the bill.

The only other amendment of substance adopted Thursday would exclude municipalities from board power over construction of major new generation and transmission facilities.

Nebraska Hardware Mutual Reports 1962 Claims Paid

At the 59th annual meeting of Nebraska Hardware Mutual Insurance Co., President T. J. Farrell reported claims paid in 1962 to policyolders totaled $481,197.

"Many of these claims were the result of severe wind and hail storms during May, June and July in Omaha, northeast Nebraska and the western part of the state.

"Even though this produces unsatisfactory experience for the company, it has been an occasion to prove the value of sound insurance coverage to the many policyholders of Nebraska Hardware Mutual," President Farrell commented.

At the end of 1962 the company showed a surplus of $407,785.50, which is a decrease of approximately $60,000 over previous years. Direct written premiums received were $533,139, a decrease over 1961 of approximately $150,000.

The decrease in written premiums is attributable to discontinuance of company operations in Missouri and Kansas where the loss experience was also unfavorable.

Officers re-elected are T. J. Farrell, president; C. C. Johnson, vice president; John V. Head, vice president, and D. H. Pettett, secretary-treasurer.

Management of the company was consolidated with the management of Union Insurance Co., although the two companies operate separately. The consolidation of management has resulted in a substantial expense saving, Farrell said, which will accrue to the benefit of policyholders.

President Farrell also noted that prospects are for improved conditions in 1963.

Members of the board of directors are C. C. Johnson, Charles Lehmkuhl, D. H. Pettett, E. E. Francis, C. A. Farrell, Oliver DeMars, Duncan Sowles, George Kimball, and T. J. Farrell.

34th Air Refueling Squadron To Be Reduced 5 Planes

Omaha (AP)—The Air Force announced Thursday that the 34th Air Refueling Squadron at Offutt Air Force Base would be reduced from 20 to 15 jet aircraft late this summer.

The Air Force said 5 tanker aircraft will be used for "priority commitments elsewhere." The move will reduce the squadron's personnel by about 120 men. Some 700 are now assigned to the squadron.

Curtis Queries Ag Department On Shipment Of Corn

Washington (AP)—The Agriculture Department was questioned Thursday by Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., about orders to ship farm-stored corn.

In telegrams to Secretary Orville L. Freeman and Hans O. Jensen, chairman of the Nebraska ASC Committee, Curtis said:

"Urgent reports are coming in from Nebraska expressing grave concern over orders to ship corn stored on the farm. These reports indicate that the orders refer to 1958, 1959 and 1960 corn."

Curtis said special concern was expressed by residents of York, Fillmore, Polk and Hamilton counties.

Asking both officials for facts surrounding the situation and their position in the matter, Curtis said:

"Is this corn being disposed of or is it being transferred to be stored elsewhere?"

Market Closes Slightly Higher

New York (AP) — The stock market Thursday ended a losing week — its first in 10 — with a slight jog to the upside. Trading was slow.

The list was lower for most of the session but improved in the final hour to give the market a statistical verdict of "higher," but the margin was small.

Pre-holiday trading was light. Volume was 3.98 million shares compared with 4.12 million Wednesday.

Stock exchanges will be closed Friday for Washington's birthday. This will give Wall Street a three-day weekend.

There was little group action. Rails and electrical equipments were higher on balance.

Of 1,291 issues traded, 537 advanced and 451 declined. New highs for 1962-63 totaled 35. The two new lows were Corning Glass Preferred new and Singer Manufacturing when-issued.

Nine of the 16 most active stocks advanced, 3 declined, and 4 were unchanged.

U.S. Smelting was the most active stock, off 6 at 70¼ on 155,900 shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .5 to 257.9 with industrials up 1.0, rails up .3, and utilities off .2.

Affected by losses of some of its blue chip components, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off .42 at 681.64.

Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.08 million shares compared with 1.22 million Wednesday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds declined.

MOST MARKETS CLOSED FRIDAY

U.S. stock and commodity exchanges will be closed Friday, Washington's birthday. Principal livestock markets are scheduled to remain open.

Venezuela Reclaims Freighter

Belem, Brazil (AP)— With a Venezuelan destroyer standing offshore, the 9 hijackers of the freighter Anzoategui sailed toward Belem in a Brazilian warship Thursday. The Venezuelan government officially repossessed the freighter and prepared to take her home.

The destroyer Admiral Celemente turned up off Belem Thursday morning, requesting permission to come into port to refuel and escort the Anzoategui back to Venezuela. Permission was expected to be granted.

The Brazilian navy, meanwhile, took strict measures to keep the Venezuelan hijackers away from the public and newsmen. The navy said the 9 would be flown immediately upon arrival here to Nova Friburgo, a mountain resort about 60 miles northeast of Rio de Janeiro, and interned at a navy hospital there.

The Venezuelan government pressed its request for extradition of the 9 hijackers for trials in Venezuela as criminals. Up to now, Brazilian officials have indicated they would be granted political asylum.

But the sudden security measures to guard the hijackers — members of a pro-Communist Venezuelan terrorist organization — were said to have been ordered by the Brazilian Foreign Ministry as a result of negotiations with Venezuelan diplomats in Rio de Janeiro.

The navy attache of the Venezuelan Embassy in Brazil, Capt. Manuel Herrera, took possession of the Anzoategui from acting Gov. Orlando de Saboya Barrios of the Brazilian territory of Amapa. The 3,127-ton freighter was anchored in the Amazon River off Macapa, about 200 miles northwest of here, at the time.

Saboya Barrios said the hijackers and the ship's loyal crew were in good health and that there were no signs of violence aboard the ship during her weeklong run as a floating stage for Venezuela's rebel Armed Forces for National Liberation (FALN).
